It's all about the experience.

HOW DO YOU DEFINE YOUR PERFECT DAY ON THE WATER? For some, it is casting tiny dries on a Montana spring creek, or perhaps accessing a remote Alaskan coastal river by floatplane to meet a fresh run of Pacific salmon, or casting hoppers to the bank from a drift boat on an Idaho tailwater river, or packing in by horse to a high mountain lake. We invite you to discover why hundreds of loyal clients trust Frontiers to coordinate their annual North American fishing holiday. After all, our company's roots were founded in this region and we know these resources better than anyone in the business. From the prolific trout streams of the Rocky Mountain West to the diverse fishery and wilderness splendor of Alaska, we will make sure that you are in the right lodge at the right time of the year for a truly exceptional outdoor experience.

Alaska is the U.S.'s largest state (over twice the size of Texas) and has the lowest population density. This state is home to seventeen of the twenty highest peaks in the country, its coastline extends over 47,000 miles, and hundreds of its rivers teem with millions of Pacific salmon and resident freshwater game fish. Whether you are looking for a rustic float trip or a deluxe fly-out lodge, we can accommodate many different fishing interests and budgets from early June through September. Most of the lodges in Alaska welcome both fly fishermen and conventional gear enthusiasts. We cannot think of a better place to introduce your son, daughter or spouse to the great sport of fishing.

Canada also has a tremendous amount to offer to the traveling fisherman. From the coastal British Columbia steelhead resources to trophy trout in Labrador, we have a number of excellent recommendations. One of our most popular programs is the fly fishing excursion via rail through the majestic Canadian Rockies aboard the Royal Canadian Pacific luxury train.

In the American West, we work with the finest lodges and outfitters throughout Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado. While these programs differ in many ways (location, rivers fished, itinerary options and price), they all share a common commitment to provide comfortable accommodations, well-prepared meals, expert guiding, and easy access to the most productive streams and rivers in the Lower 48. Your on-water experience is complemented with warm Western hospitality, spectacular scenery, and a myriad of other outdoor activities. Virtually all of the lodges are oriented toward fly fishing and most are open during the traditional summer season, which runs from early June through October. There are, however, excellent opportunities for trophy trout from the 1st of April through to mid-November. Best of all, the lodges we represent in the American West are easily accessible and represent terrific value!

Several of the areas recommended in this brochure are the ideal setting for a holiday combining the objectives of the fisherman and a nonfishing companion. We are uniquely capable of planning fishing with master guides in conjunction with high-quality sightseeing and world-class accommodations.

Let our experience define your fishing experience in North America. Call us today for a proposed itinerary.

Why book with Frontiers?

In today's world, we are bombarded with travel information from a multitude of sources — beautiful brochures, slick Web sites and e-mail newsletters, smooth-talking TV personalities, trustworthy friends and well-meaning acquaintances. It all looks and sounds great, but how do we know who has the most complete and honest information, and how do we decide which North American destination is the one for us?

Since 1969, our staff has traveled extensively looking for the best fishing and lodges available in North America. We have discovered and researched many unique places that provide first-rate experiences, from the quality of the fishing to the reliability of the on-site management. We revisit all of our locations often as we want to be sure that our information is always current and that everything remains exceptional. And, that's why Frontiers is your best resource for destination advice.

Planning your next fishing trip in North America can be a confusing and time-consuming process.

There are now many lodges, outfitters and independent guides throughout Alaska, Canada and the West, making the decisions complicated; plus, there are important personal and seasonal implications to consider. We have been operating in North America for over three decades and several members of our in-house staff have traveled the U.S. and Canada extensively (over one hundred exploratory trips in the past 26 years), refining existing programs and exploring new fishing horizons. Our knowledgeable staff is backed by 36 years of outdoor experience, and we constantly receive feedback from returning clients. We are ready to customize an itinerary to meet your specific travel, timing, fishing, budget and sightseeing objectives.

We realize that your vacation is not only a financial commitment but also an investment in valuable time. We are dedicated to the success of your fishing holiday whether it is your first or fiftieth with Frontiers. For us, it is a passion — a passion for travel, a passion for fishing, a passion to be in the outdoors, and a passion to share.

Denise Schreiber

FRONTIERS HAS THE EXPERTS

To make your trip perfect!

With over 30 years of combined experience and many familiarization trips under their fishing belts, our Freshwater Program Managers can compare the best possible options for your next memorable travel adventure to the great North American regions.

Program Manager Denise Schreiber has handled the American West program since 1992. Once Denise landed her first 20-inch rainbow on a pristine river in Montana, she was hooked on fly fishing. Having visited the properties and fished the waters Frontiers represents in the West, Denise can make firsthand recommendations on which location is best suited to your personal objectives.

Tammy Corb

Beginning her career at Frontiers in 1991, Tammy Corb, our Alaska and Canada Department Manager, is passionate about fly fishing and has traveled throughout these regions in search of unique fishing adventures and productive waters. As a 6-year member of IWFF (International Women Fly Fishers), Tammy enjoys sharing her knowledge and experience with a broad audience – from the novice to the seasoned fly fisher. Tammy was also a contributor to the highly acclaimed travel guide, 50 Places to Fly Fish Before You Die. Give Tammy a call and she will tailor the perfect trip for you.

Holly Miller

Di Smith

The rest of the North American team includes Frontiers' President Mike Fitzgerald, Jr., Di Smith, and Holly Miller, and in our U.K. office, Justin Staal.

Your trip is custom designed for you.

Most of the lodges featured in this guide are oriented toward exceptional fishing. Some operate on a fixed one-week itinerary. Others have no set arrival and departure date nor is there a minimum or maximum length of stay. A number of the destinations we represent also offer numerous nonfishing activities such as hiking, horseback riding, wildlife photography, white-water trips, scenic sightseeing excursions, golf or just simple relaxation. Likewise, there are choices for those who would like to travel with their entire family while mixing in a few days of fishing. Whether it is luxury accommodations and fine dining, the simple efficiencies of a remote Alaskan tent camp, or something in between, you will be sure to find the perfect trip in the following pages to suit your North American freshwater fishing objectives.

Getting to a quality fishing lodge can be as simple as jumping on a plane to Denver, or it can be a bit more adventurous accessing some of the remote regions of Canada and Alaska. Frontiers has a full-service Airline Department dedicated to making your travel as convenient and hassle-free as possible. The bottom line is that most of these programs are not as far away as you might think. For our clients abroad who are traveling greater distances, we are confident that you will find the spectacular scenery, world-class fishing, and numerous other outdoor activities to be well worth the trip.

Frontiers helps make your travel planning what it should be – fun. Our reputation is founded on careful planning and relentless attention to detail by a staff dedicated to customer service and client satisfaction. Entrust your travel to Frontiers!

Alaska

THE ULTIMATE FLY FISHING ADVENTURE!

ALASKA HAS BEEN DESCRIBED BY MANY OF OUR CLIENTS AS NOT JUST A MAGNIFICENT DESTINATION BUT ALSO AN INCREDIBLE EXPERIENCE. A place of soaring peaks, prolific wildlife, sweeping landscapes and mighty rivers, it is one of the most inspiring, rewarding, even life-changing fly fishing adventures you can take.

In fact, nowhere in the world is there such a great diversity and abundance of fish as there is in Alaska. Its expansive wilderness and countless numbers of rivers and streams afford anglers the rare opportunity to fish in spectacular areas amazingly untouched by man. The limitless tundra and runoff from the immense mountain ranges feed extensive waterways capable of supporting million-fold runs of five species of Pacific salmon. Resident freshwater species also abound in strong, healthy populations and include rainbow trout, dolly varden, arctic char, grayling, northern pike, lake trout and sheefish.

Alaska has it all – whether you are in search of smaller, more intimate streams or larger, meandering rivers; easy wading or boat fishing; light tackle or heavy tackle; trout or salmon; dry flies or wet flies. The saying “there is something for everyone” certainly holds true and, no matter what your angling background or ability, Frontiers can assist you with planning your unique wilderness experience. We represent a very exclusive selection of outstanding outfitters, from sophisticated fly-out lodges to deluxe on-the-water camps and scenic float trips. The options are endless and, with our firsthand experience gathered over 36 years, we can customize the perfect trip for you.

“What a great family vacation! My two teenage children were doing a double-haul by the end of the first day. My non-fishing wife is now a fisherwoman. She can’t wait to go on another trip!”

Fly-out Lodges

Bristol Bay Lodge, a Shackleton Property, is considered one of Alaska's premier fly-out lodges

BUSH PILOTS ARE THE PERSONAL "CHAUFFEURS" AT FLY-OUT LODGES, TRANSPORTING GUESTS BY FLOATPLANE EACH DAY TO FISH-FILLED RIVERS AND STREAMS OR OVERNIGHT CAMPS ADJACENT TO BOUNTIFUL WATERS. Considering that many areas in Alaska are inaccessible except by floatplane, a fly-out trip is our most popular Alaskan adventure as it provides the flexibility to fish several river systems for the greatest variety of species. Luxurious accommodations, gourmet meals and unbelievable flightseeing also enhance your fishing experience and are sure to make this one of your most memorable trips ever!

A warm welcome after a successful day's fishing from Bristol Bay Lodge's Rainbo Camp.

Bristol Bay Lodge

Our top recommendation for an unparalleled fly-out fishing experience is the legendary Bristol Bay Lodge, strategically located in the heart of North America's largest state park, Wood-Tikchik. In such unspoiled and untouched surroundings, guests staying at this private, luxurious hideaway can expect to catch a great abundance and variety of fish. Bristol Bay Lodge offers angling for all five species of Pacific salmon, Alaska's famous leopard-spotted rainbow trout, sea-run dolly varden, arctic char, grayling and northern pike. The most distinctive aspect of this operation is its exclusive overnight camps, Birch Creek and Rainbo. No one else but Bristol Bay Lodge can offer such a unique rotational schedule consisting of day and overnight fishing trips, first-class accommodations, 34 years of experience, and attentive service. For an impeccably run fishing operation, look no further than Bristol Bay Lodge, a Shackleton Property.

Fishing Unlimited Lodge

With just the right mix of comfort, charm and rustic appeal, Fishing Unlimited receives the highest of accolades from returning fishermen. Catering to just 14 guests, the lodge has mastered the art of providing exceptional service combined with unequaled fishing. Located in the Lake Clark National Park and Preserve near Port Alsworth, Fishing Unlimited will tailor their fishing program to meet your objectives – their floatplanes actually stay with you throughout the day. Despite its seclusion and wilderness setting, this property is only an hour's flight from Anchorage. Be sure to ask about the lodge's special Family Packages, Graduation Specials and half-week stays.

Mission Lodge

For most people, it's not possible to visit Mission Lodge just once. With every last detail perfected, it lures people back year after year. This is the best testimony we can provide about the quality of their fishing program, accommodations and service. Each night, you meet with your guide to determine what type of fishing interests you for the next day and a game plan is formed. Flexibility is their hallmark. The lodge's single accommodations are also highly regarded and very unique for Alaska, making it a perfect venue for families, individuals and small groups. Add to the mix a number of other special touches – a wood-fired sauna, hot tub, massage therapist, fully stocked bar and top-notch equipment/waders – and you have the perfect fishing destination.

No See Um Lodge

No See Um Lodge can be summed up very simply: a trout fisherman's paradise. This incredibly deluxe fly-fishing-only property caters to just 10 guests, guaranteeing an intimate and very personalized experience, and allowing three float-equipped planes to stay with parties all day. Located in the heart of the famous trout-infested Iliamna-Katmai region, No See Um targets Alaska's famous rainbows, with possibilities for char, grayling and salmon. The owners of No See Um, Jack and Sue Holman, are exceptional hosts and have more than 26 years of experience. Their guides and staff, many of whom are family members, exude the same enthusiasm for fly fishing and Alaska. With the combination of outstanding fly-out fishing, a great setting and wonderful hospitality, No See Um Lodge is in the top tier of Alaska fly fishing lodges.

Kulik Lodge

Kulik Lodge's highly acclaimed "home water" stream of the same name is perhaps one of the best trout rivers in Alaska. Its gin-clear water and gravel bottom ensure easy wading, while a plentiful food supply provides an ideal habitat for large populations of native rainbow trout. With 3-, 4- and 7-night packages available, a combination fly-out and fish-at-home itinerary can be customized to suit each fly fisherman wishing to target a variety of species. Without question, Kulik is a world-class lodge, offering incomparable fishing opportunities within the famed Iliamna region, deluxe accommodations and fantastic guides.

Other fly-out lodges that we highly recommend include:

Bristol Bay Sportfishing
Enchanted Lake Lodge
Rainbow King Lodge
Tikchik Narrows Lodge

For more information, please contact us or visit our Web site at www.frontierstravel.com

Kulik Lodge is another favorite for our clients.

Riverside Lodges

AND TENTED CAMPS

©Johnny Quiroz

WHILE MOST OF THESE LODGES AND CAMPS DO NOT OFFER FLY-OUTS, THE NEED RARELY ARISES. These operations are invariably located adjacent to remarkable rivers and their tributaries, permitting almost around-the-clock fishing. Jet boats are used to shuttle fishermen to productive areas, usually reached within minutes of leaving camp. This short “commute” expands your fishing time and sometimes the best fishing spot is right in front of your door. Tented accommodations are the norm and offer a true wilderness experience with the convenience of hot showers, modern bathhouses, drying tents, saunas and Jacuzzis. Of course, wildlife sightings are common and the scenery is nothing short of spectacular.

Alaska Wilderness Safari

Alaska Wilderness Safari offers a rare and impressive opportunity to fish unpressured water for chrome-bright silver, chum and pink salmon fresh from the ocean. In addition to great salmon fishing, sea-run dolly varden and acrobatic arctic char abound in the upper reaches of these rivers and streams. Located within the vast Alaska Peninsula Wildlife Refuge, one of the most compelling reasons to fish this region is the small size and clarity of the rivers and streams. Wading or sightcasting from the bank as well as fishing deep pools, riffles, cut banks, and long stretches of holding water are the norm. While most of the fishing is enjoyed right in front of the camp, two of your six days are spent flying out by helicopter. This amazing camp is located in an area of unspeakable beauty and also perfect for nonfishermen. Nature lovers will be “wowed” by the hiking, photography, beachcombing, riverside bonfires, star gazing, wildlife viewing and much, much more.

Unalakleet River Lodge

As one of our clients said, Unalakleet River Lodge is "a little slice of heaven." The Unalakleet River consistently produces one of the greatest salmon runs in Alaska and entices fly and spin fishermen to its banks year after year. Located 400 miles northwest of Anchorage and less than 10 miles from Norton Sound, salmon entering this river are mostly chrome-bright and unbelievably strong. While it is the fishing that gets rave reviews, the lodge owners, Jeff and Sally Appel, along with their staff are exceptional hosts and ensure that your stay is first rate.

Copper River Lodge

The Copper River rainbows are some of the largest in Alaska and, as a result, it was the first river in the state designated a "fly fishing, catch and release only, trophy rainbow river." Limited to 6 guests and easy to wade, fly fishermen of all ages and experience levels will be enticed by the endless excitement the Copper has to offer. It is a classic trout stream packed with long dry fly glides, deep winding pools studded with boulders, faster riffles and deep undercut banks. For a small group, family or three couples, Copper River Lodge is the ideal choice.

Goodnews River Lodge

A superior tent camp with limitless opportunities and complete isolation best describes the experience with Goodnews River Lodge. Located on the prolific Goodnews River in Togiak National Wildlife Refuge, spin and fly fishermen can choose to fish one of three river branches, cast to incoming fish in the tidewater, or wade the feeder creeks. It's your choice. The variety and quality of fishing here is remarkable. It is an uncommon and exciting opportunity for all five types of Pacific salmon, leopard-spotted rainbow trout, grayling and world-class dolly varden to be found on one river. Also notable is the camp's high-tech guest accommodations, constructed of special weatherproof fabric; indoor heated bathrooms with hot showers, sinks and toilets; drying room; and large dining/recreational facility.

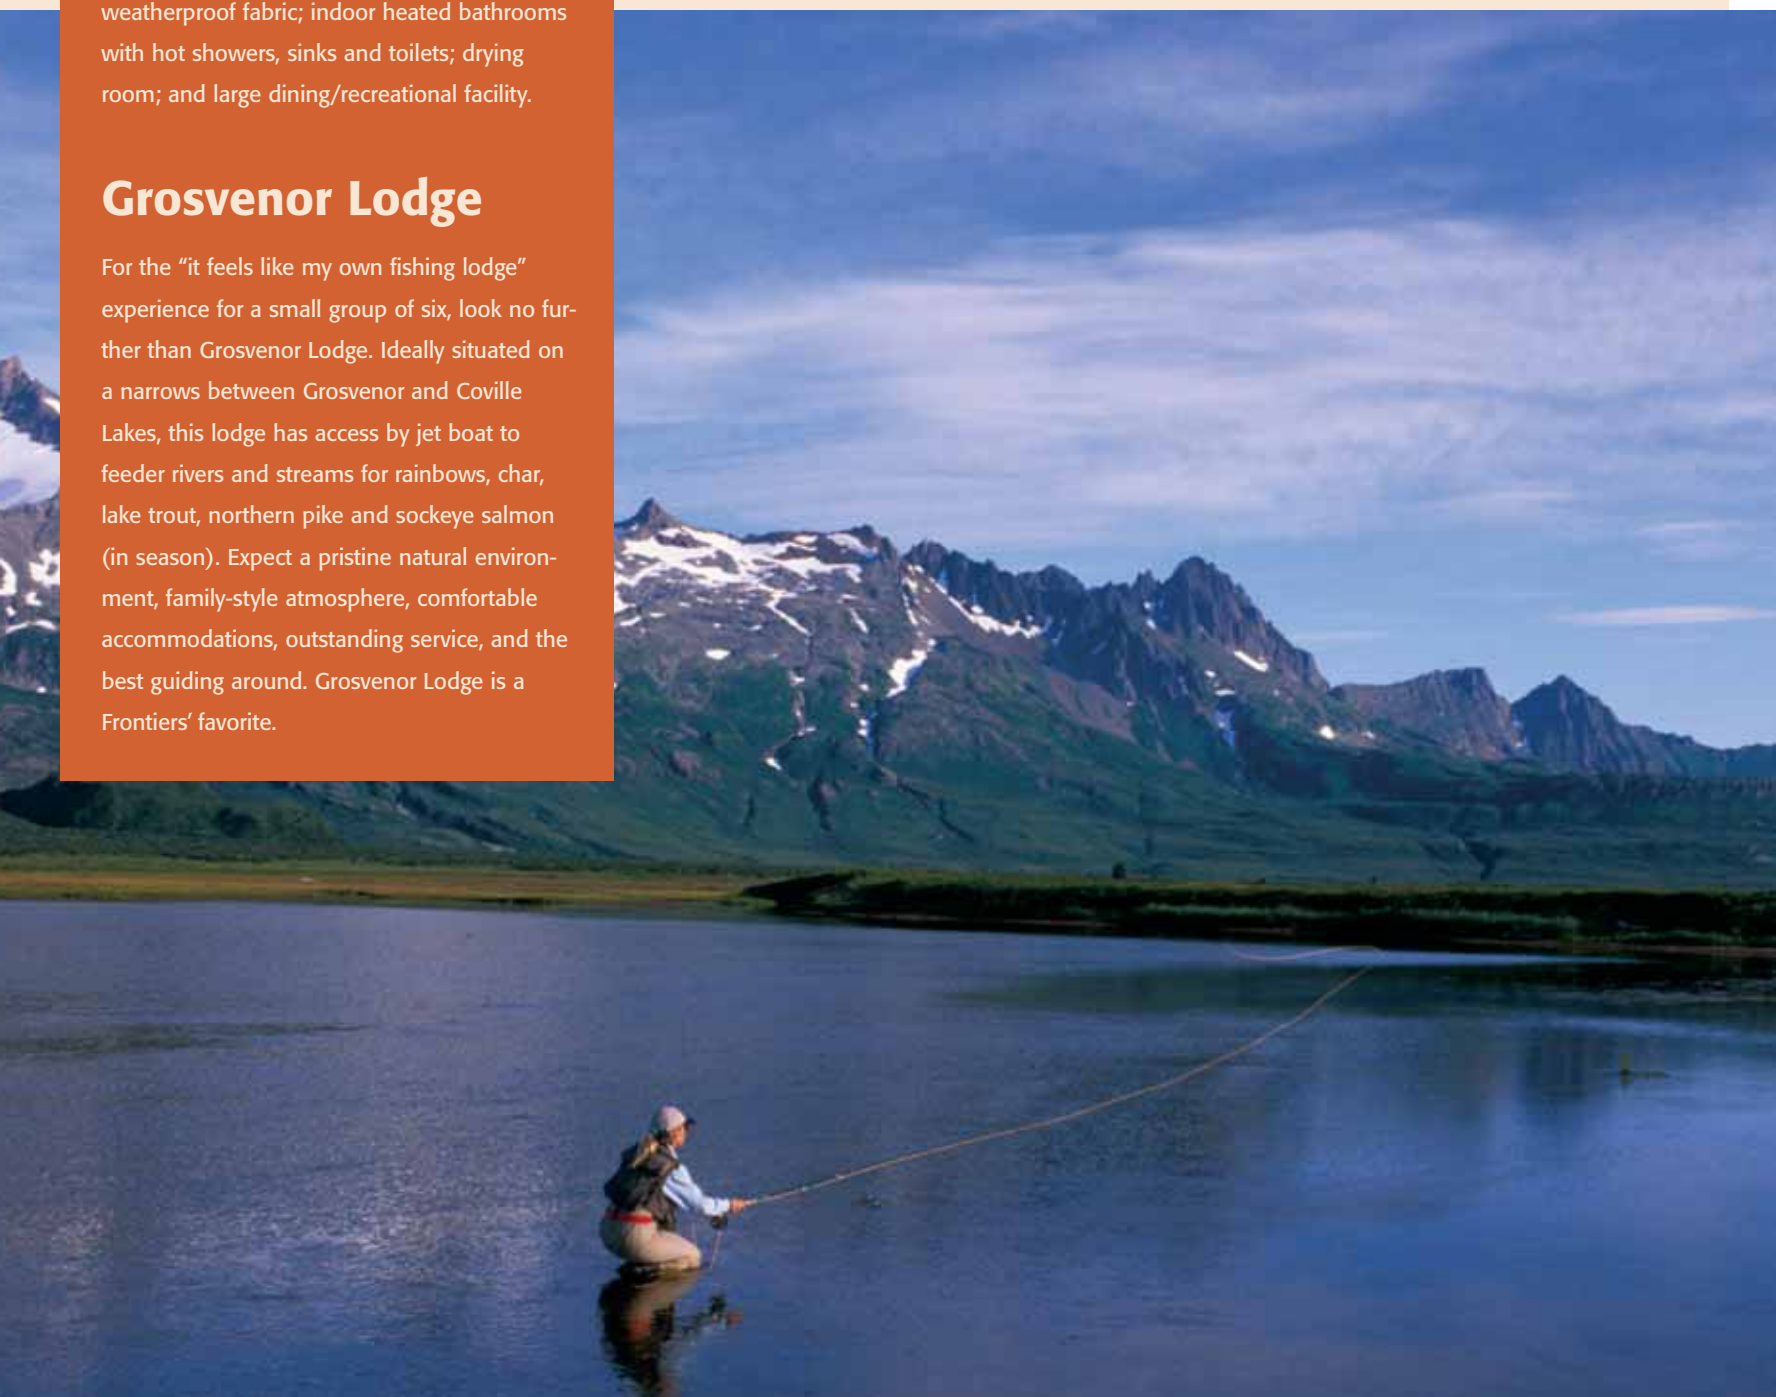

Grosvenor Lodge

For the "it feels like my own fishing lodge" experience for a small group of six, look no further than Grosvenor Lodge. Ideally situated on a narrows between Grosvenor and Coville Lakes, this lodge has access by jet boat to feeder rivers and streams for rainbows, char, lake trout, northern pike and sockeye salmon (in season). Expect a pristine natural environment, family-style atmosphere, comfortable accommodations, outstanding service, and the best guiding around. Grosvenor Lodge is a Frontiers' favorite.

Comfortable tents await clients on the Goodnews.

Sarah Fullhart, owner of The Lodge At Whale Pass, where "serious fishing meets serious adventure."

The Lodge at Whale Pass

Looking for an exceptional fishing experience as well as a place where your nonfishing family and friends will feel comfortable? You have found it! Located in an incredibly stunning location in southeast Alaska surrounded by the bounty of the Inside Passage, The Lodge at Whale Pass is perfectly poised to deliver multi-sport activities, with an equal emphasis placed on sport fishing. Adventure packages include cruising to quiet bays and coves for remote sea kayaking, whale watching, boating, caving, guided tours to native Tlingit and Haida sites, and much, much more. Each adventure is professionally outfitted and guided, and each trip can be customized for as much or as little activity as you desire. Whale Pass is the perfect escape for couples, families or groups.

Togiak River Fishing Adventures

Located in western Alaska in the Togiak National Wildlife Refuge, this well-known tented camp on the Togiak River is based in one of the state's most prolific areas for salmon. With only 14 guests and a guide-to-angler ratio of 1-to-2, fishermen can expect the utmost attention from professional guides. Also rounding out your Alaskan experience are comfortable camp accommodations with modern amenities, outstanding meals, and a spacious recreation tent featuring a TV/VCR and fly tying area.

Riversong Lodge

Located just 70 air miles northwest of Anchorage, Riversong Lodge is accessible by floatplane only and offers guests a true wilderness experience and excellent fishing for all five species of Pacific salmon, rainbow trout, arctic grayling and northern pike. Nestled among cottonwood, birch and spruce trees, ten guest cabins surround the main lodge facing the Yentna River under the distant gaze of majestic mountains. Day trips and overnight stays – from one to seven nights – provide guests with the flexibility to arrive and depart on a schedule to suit their needs. Riversong is the ideal choice for those seeking a quality fishing experience within proximity to Anchorage.

Riversong Lodge.

Other riverside lodges and tented camps that we highly recommend include Angler's Alibi, Aniak River Lodge, Fishing Bear Lodge, Great Alaska Adventure Lodge, and Western Alaska Sportfishing. For more information, please contact us or visit our Web site at www.frontierstravel.com.

Float Trips

A FLOATTRIP IS WHERE YOU WILL FIND SOME OF THE MOST SCENIC AND PEACEFUL PLACES ON EARTH, NOT TO MENTION AROUND-THE-CLOCK FISHING POSSIBILITIES. While most people would assume a float trip is best suited for the serious angler, we also find these trips greatly appeal to families with older children, groups of fishing buddies, and anyone with a sense of adventure and perhaps a more modest fishing budget.

Each float trip consists of small groups of 6-8 guests using 14-16 ft. Avon rafts to drift a river with expert guides and outdoorsmen. Between 45 to 90 miles are covered in a typical week's float, with stops made to wade the riffles and feeder streams for a variety of species. While this is more of a participatory trip – guests are asked to help with minimal tasks around camp – the trade-off is almost unlimited fishing time, not to mention prime opportunities for wildlife viewing and an outstanding way to savor Alaska's sheer natural beauty.

Frontiers represents two highly qualified outfitters: Dave Duncan & Sons and Goodnews River Lodge (which also operates a fixed camp). Dave Duncan & Sons floats the world-famous Kanektok River, renowned not only for its robust runs of all five species of Pacific salmon, sea-run dolly varden, and leopard-spotted rainbow trout, but also for its character. With numerous gravel bars, river braids, current lines and structure, it's a fisherman's dream. The fishing action for guests floating the prolific Goodnews River starts right away. New campsites are set up each night after full days of active fishing along the length of the Goodnews River – a great way to experience the variety and quality of fishing offered by Goodnews River Lodge.

Please call us or visit our Web site for more information about these unique Alaskan adventures.

Inside Passage Cruises and Yacht Charters

THE SHEER MAGNITUDE AND BEAUTY OF ALASKA'S COASTAL SCENERY AND ABUNDANT WILDLIFE CAN ONLY BE TRULY APPRECIATED BY CRUISING ALONG THE SPECTACULAR GULF COASTLINE, where thundering icebergs, shimmering glaciers, fascinating wildlife and charming ports offer the ultimate Alaskan experience.

Frontiers' specialty is exclusive, intimate yacht charters and small-ship voyages that provide an up-close-and-personal experience, as you explore remote bays and fjords with expert on-board guides and naturalists who enthusiastically share their knowledge and assist with wildlife sightings.

The larger cruise ships offer the perfect on-board experience as you sail from one picturesque port to the next. Featuring an impressive array of dining options, elegant lounges and entertainment venues, fitness facilities and spa services, guests can enjoy an incredible range of activities and amenities while soaking up the splendor of one of the most scenic waterways in the world.

Whatever your preferences, we have the knowledge and experience to recommend the perfect Alaskan cruise for you, so call us to discuss the options.

Wilderness Lodges

One of the best ways to enjoy a “true” Alaskan experience is to immerse yourself in a learning adventure at an acclaimed wilderness lodge. Personalized guiding services provide enhanced opportunities for wildlife sightings to small groups of nature enthusiasts, hikers, bird watchers, photographers and sport fishermen, as well as those seeking a range of outdoor activities.

From the heart of Denali National Park, with its magnificent views of majestic Mount McKinley, to the marine-rich estuaries of the Kenai Peninsula, to the world-famous Alaska brown bears and volcanic “Valley of 10,000 Smokes” in Katmai National Park, we can tailor the perfect Alaska wilderness adventure for you.

Unparalleled view from Camp Denali’s historic lodge in the heart of Denali National Park.

Canada

STRETCHING FROM THE REMOTE, RUGGED BEAUTY OF LABRADOR, HEADING WEST THROUGH THE UNTAMED WILDERNESS OF SASKATCHEWAN and on to the mountainous and glacier-filled region of Alberta and British Columbia, Frontiers has a handpicked selection of Canada's most sought-after properties with world-class freshwater fishing.

These exclusive lodges have been specially selected with an eye to offering comfortable accommodations, outstanding service, mouth-watering menus and, of course, superior fishing. Whether you are in search of trophy brook trout, rainbow trout, Pacific salmon, northern pike or the hard-fighting steelhead, Canada is overflowing with opportunities for those who love to get away from it all with a fishing rod in hand.

King Pacific Lodge, British Columbia

In heart of the British Columbia wilderness lies King Pacific Lodge – a Rosewood property and one of the most amazing and luxurious floating lodges ever encountered by Frontiers. It is a sanctuary that attracts couples, families and corporate groups from around the world in search of the perfect wilderness experience, whether it is to exclusively fish or enjoy a multitude of activities. Guests can participate in freshwater or saltwater fishing, whale watching, bear viewing, kayaking, hiking, helicopter excursions, and spa services at this magnificent retreat where the service is second to none.

"The King Pacific Lodge experience is beyond compare. Five-star luxury, food and service in an unspoiled wilderness setting – an adventure to cherish for a lifetime."

Royal Canadian Pacific Fly Fishing Train

Join the Royal Canadian Pacific Railroad on a fly fishing adventure through the stunning Canadian Rockies. This 650-mile train trip allows you to experience a variety of blue-ribbon rivers in western Canada over four days, fly fishing for wonderful wild trout in spectacular mountain scenery. Fish cool, clear mountain waters for feisty cutthroat, brown, rainbow and bull trout during the day, while riding the rails in the comfort of what were once private business cars that have carried members of royalty, world leaders and captains of industry. This is definitely one of the greatest and most exclusive fishing adventures ever.

Scheduled Fly Fishing Departure (Round-trip Calgary): August 13-18, 2006

6-day/5-night Package Includes: Airport chauffeured transfers; luxurious first night's accommodation in a special "Fairmont Gold" room at the Fairmont Palliser Hotel; four nights of deluxe accommodation aboard the Royal Canadian Pacific; first-class service; gourmet meals and alcoholic beverages aboard the train; four days of fully guided fishing; and all transportation.

Dave Brown Outfitters, British Columbia and Alberta

While Elk River Angler changed its name to Dave Brown Outfitters this fall, you can still expect the same great guiding services from this small, exclusive operator that has been in business since 1990. The company continues to provide discriminating fishermen from around the world with exceptional fishing opportunities on the trout-rich rivers of southwestern Alberta and southeastern British Columbia. If you are traveling in the Canadian Rockies and are in search of the best fly fishing water around, the reputation of Dave Brown and his team of guides is unsurpassed in the area, and they are without a doubt our guide service of choice in Alberta and British Columbia.

Minipi Wilderness Camps, Labrador

Minipi Camps, located in the untouched Canadian wilderness of Labrador, is one of the last places on earth where you can catch 5-, 6-, 7- and 8-pound brook trout on a dry fly. While most of us consider a 3-pound "brookie" to be a real trophy, the guides here don't even count fish in their daily journals until they surpass the 3-pound mark! The typical brook trout caught in Minipi waters averages an astounding 4 pounds and takes dry flies readily. Fishermen looking for a mixed bag will find northern pike plentiful and also great fun on a fly rod. Arctic char round out possibilities at this remote lodge.

Selwyn Lake Lodge, Saskatchewan

On the border of Saskatchewan and the Northwest Territories lies one of America's finest fly-out trophy fishing lodges, Selwyn Lake Lodge. Uncompromising luxury with resort amenities complements the extraordinary world-class fishing for huge northern pike, lake trout and arctic grayling. If catching monster northern pike on a fly is something you've always dreamed about, move Selwyn Lake Lodge to the top of your list. This premier lodge offers some of the finest trophy pike water in the world amidst classic Canadian wilderness.

"The greatest fishing trip I was ever on, and to be able to chase giant brookies in an unspoiled setting was fantastic. If I close my eyes I can still see those big brookies rolling and porpoising out by Lover Bay Rock. It may take a surgeon to get the smile off my face."
 Minipi Camps guest, W.U., New Jersey

Inconnu Lodge Yukon Territory

Situated on the Continental Divide and surrounded by the shores of McEvoy Lake, Inconnu Lodge is a remote fly-in resort found in the midst of the Yukon Territory's finest lakes, rivers and streams. These waters are home to some of the greatest fighters in the world – the feisty northern pike, lake trout, dolly varden and the elusive Inconnu or sheefish. For those seeking seclusion, a variety of fishing opportunities, and the opportunity to become one with nature, look no further than Inconnu.

Let the experts at Frontiers introduce you to the best fly fishing in North America.

Steelhead Valhalla Lodge, British Columbia

Since 1984, owners Dennis and Arleyene Farnsworth have run a small and exclusive nine-rod steelhead lodge on the Sustut River in British Columbia, a tributary of the mighty Skeena river system. Guests at Steelhead Valhalla Lodge fish the lower 20 miles of the river, as the upper 80 miles are utilized exclusively for salmon and steelhead spawning and rearing – the key to the tremendous productivity. If you want the chance to pursue trophy steelhead with an average weight of 15 pounds, with many running 20 pounds and larger, you'll want to consider a fall trip to Steelhead Valhalla Lodge.

American West

SOMEONE ONCE SAID "TROUT ONLY LIVE IN BEAUTIFUL PLACES." Well, the Western United States is no exception. The beauty of America's Rocky Mountain wilderness cannot be surpassed anywhere in the world. More importantly, the prolific waters here provide quality trout fishing on par with any international destination. We invite you to discover the best in Western trout fishing . . . The Frontiers Way.

World-class private land elk hunting is offered during the autumn season at Three Forks Ranch in Colorado.

There are many reasons to plan your next trout fishing trip to the American West through Frontiers. First of all, the lodges we represent are easily accessed from almost all points in the U.S. America's Rocky Mountain wilderness is breathtaking. From small private streams in northwest Colorado to amazingly scenic floats on the rivers in Montana and Idaho, the American West should be in the "must do" column of every avid fly fisher's wish list.

The premier lodges in the American West that we recommend are all located in scenic surroundings and offer pleasantly appointed rooms and delicious meals. It is the goal of each lodge to provide guests with an enjoyable and productive fishing experience with top quality guides on the very best waters this country offers – away from the crowds.

If you would like to extend your stay in the West and take in some of the magnificent scenery and sightseeing opportunities, let us customize a memorable itinerary. In Montana, Wyoming and Idaho, we can coordinate your travel arrangements in Jackson Hole, Grand Teton National Park, Yellowstone National Park, Glacier National Park and the Flathead Lake Region. In Colorado, you might want to consider visiting Rocky Mountain National Park, Aspen, Vail, Steamboat Springs, Telluride, Durango and other scenic areas. Or if you are interested in a memorable steelhead fishing trip, let us customize a trip to Oregon.

Give us a call today and let us help you discover the "Best in the West!"

Colorado Wyoming

Three Forks Ranch has many nonfishing activities for their guests to enjoy, including a world-class sporting clays course

Three Forks Ranch

Bordering Southern Wyoming and Northern Colorado

Situated in the high mountain aspens, Three Forks Ranch is located on a 200,000-acre working cattle ranch with some of the best trophy trout fishing in the West. Mountain streams and springs breathe life into the Little Snake River right inside the gate of the Colorado headquarters. The headwaters of this river are home to countless rainbow, cutthroat and brook trout. Once a dying giant, new life has been given to the Little Snake — 16 miles have been restored to what Mother Nature may have wished it 150 years ago and 30 oxbow lakes now dot the property, all connected to the river by reopened channels and all home to wonderful trout fishing.

If casting to trophy trout is not enough for the outdoor enthusiast, the ranch is a year-round sportsman's paradise with numerous activities including a world-class sporting clays course, horseback riding, 4-wheeling, and wildlife scenic tours.

Depending on configuration of the groups, 16-22 guests are comfortably accommodated in three beautiful lodge homes that offer all the amenities you would expect from a high-quality ranch. Guests gather in the evening in front of a roaring fire at the River Rock Lodge where hearty, well-prepared meals are served with a warm Western smile. The staff at Three Forks is truly exceptional with an unmatched commitment to service.

"I could write a long paragraph or two on our trip. We have fished several facilities in the US and overseas but consider this the best. We have already booked a week for next year."

Idaho

The Henry's Fork, one of America's premier dry fly fisheries

Three Rivers Ranch Eastern Idaho

Three Rivers Ranch is ideally located in eastern Idaho and is licensed on an honor roll of rivers in Idaho, Wyoming and Montana. Their line up includes the Henry's Fork and the South Fork of the Snake River, the Madison, the Teton and all the rivers in Yellowstone National Park. Most guests split their time between wading and floating, as the options are nearly limitless.

Three Rivers continues to be a favorite for anglers who seek dependable fishing complemented by warm Western hospitality. Lonnie Allen and her professional staff make guests feel welcome the minute they walk through the gates of the property. Accommodations are in rustic cabins or at the Robinson Creek House, a separate facility that's ideal for intact groups of 6-8 or families. From the delicious meals taken in the main dining room decorated with Western memorabilia to massages upon request, you will feel pampered and "at home" during your stay at this remarkable ranch.

"I have been to many lodges – from Alaska to Argentina and Chile. The Three Rivers Ranch experience is one of the best operations I have enjoyed. We signed up for 2006 before we departed for home."

South Fork Lodge offers very comfortable accommodations on the bank on one of North America's premier fisheries.

South Fork Lodge

Eastern Idaho

Located in scenic Swan Valley just an hour west of the famous Teton Mountains, South Fork Lodge was built by Mark Rockefeller and has become a world-class fly fishing resort. With a uniquely designed main lodge, spacious accommodations, and an exclusive restaurant looking out over the breathtaking waters of the Snake River, this property will rival anything you have ever seen on the banks of a great river. The lodge's 18 exquisitely furnished rooms also feature private balconies that overlook the river.

The South Fork is a terrific tailwater fishery. Guests fish with South Fork Outfitters, which has an extensive fly shop and top-notch guides. With the guides' seasoned knowledge of the local rivers and fish, even the most novice angler will be assured a wonderful experience. In addition, many other rivers and streams in eastern Idaho and western Wyoming are within striking distance.

For board meetings or corporate retreats, South Fork Lodge is an ideal location. Call Frontiers for further details.

Craig Fellin Outfitters & Big Hole Lodge Southwestern Montana

Nestled in the scenic Pioneer Mountains in southwestern Montana, Big Hole Lodge has been exclusively represented by Frontiers since 1987. Without question, Craig Fellin's operation is one of the great fly fishing destinations of North America. The wild trophy trout fishing possibilities are unmatched in the West.

Whether you are an expert or an amateur, Craig Fellin and his guides will offer their expertise in technique, entomology and stream savvy that will add to your skill and enjoyment of fly fishing. The Big Hole River is the leader in Craig's line up, along with opportunities to fish the Beaverhead, Bitterroot, the Ruby, Upper Clark Fork, Deep Creek, Upper Rock Creek and the Jefferson. In addition, a prolific spring creek has been added to Craig's list of blue-ribbon waters.

By limiting the capacity to just 12 guests, the lodge is able to put more emphasis on the warm hospitality and personalized service for which it has become renowned. Craig's talented chef will prepare unforgettable meals served by a gracious staff.

The Main Lodge provides beautiful views of the Pioneer Mountains

Blue Damsel Lodge Western Montana

Blue Damsel Lodge is located just 27 miles east of Missoula. It is situated on Rock Creek, a well-known blue-ribbon trout stream, and surrounded by the Sapphire Mountains in scenic Lolo National Forest. Several fishing options are offered with the veteran guiding services of John Herzer's Blackfoot River Outfitters. Some of the quality waters fished are Rock Creek, the Blackfoot, Clark Fork and Bitterroot Rivers. The Missouri River is also accessible from the lodge.

Fourteen guests are comfortably accommodated in a Montana lodgepole pine cabin and an adjacent guest cabin. Delicious well-prepared meals are served by the lodge's chef and are scheduled to fit your fishing program.

The quality waters surrounding the Missoula area coupled with the services of the guides, comfortable accommodations, and home-cooked meals maximizes your chances for a memorable western Montana fishing trip.

The comfortable Madison Valley Ranch offers convenient access to a number of fine trout streams.

Madison Valley Ranch Southwestern Montana

Located in the heart of southwestern Montana's prime trout country, this handsome ranch with adjacent duplex cabins accommodates 12-16 guests. Gourmet meals are served in a spacious dining room with a comfortable lounge area, providing a cozy atmosphere where guests can relax after an exciting day on the river. The ranch sits in the Madison River Valley, three miles north of Ennis, bordering the Madison River "Channels" section and Jack Creek. Based on the ranch's central location on the Madison, a number of fine rivers can also be accessed including the Gallatin, Yellowstone, Beaverhead, Ruby, and even the Big Hole.

Regardless of your skill level, Madison Valley Ranch is just a cast away from your most enjoyable fishing experience ever. Your hosts, Chris and Julie Eaton, are excellent guides and will go out of their way to make sure that your Montana fly fishing is second to none.

April and May fishing is probably the best-kept secret in Montana. All the rivers in the area fish well and are low and clear as the winter snow runoff usually doesn't begin until late May or early June. Come experience some spectacular springtime fishing.

"Couldn't have been better for a fly fishing newbie. Guides were great instructors, fish were biting, accommodations and food were first rate, weather was perfect. Couldn't ask for more (except maybe that last 20" rainbow that got away)."

Private spring creek fishing

Big River Lodge Southwestern Montana

Nestled along the banks of the fabled Gallatin River, Big River Lodge is located between Bozeman, Montana, and the west entrance of Yellowstone National Park. The lodge is an intimate mountain property that is the perfect base from which the outdoor enthusiast has easy access to some of Big Sky Country's best fly fishing, hiking, rafting, horseback riding and sightseeing.

There is superb fly fishing in the area. Choose from several of the blue-ribbon rivers within driving distance of the lodge, including the Gallatin, the Yellowstone, the Lower and Upper Madison, as well as quality, private-access spring creeks.

Big River Lodge's talented chef prepares memorable meals served in the main lodge – outdoor dining is also available on a spacious deck that overlooks the river. Guests are comfortably accommodated in five distinctive guest cabins, which are very spacious and capture the spirit of Montana yet provide the most modern conveniences.

Corporate Retreats

The property also boasts a state-of-the-art business center that can handle up to 22 people for meetings and presentations, making for the best of "work and pleasure." Numerous outdoor activities can be arranged for individuals, couples, families and corporate groups. Big River Lodge can customize a Montana trip based on your specific travel objectives.

Bighorn River

South-Central Montana

“The Bighorn River is back and fishing better than ever!” “Best tailwater fishery in the Lower 48!”

These are just a few of the comments we are hearing from our clients who fished the Bighorn this past season. Since 1989, Frontiers has been on the “Horn,” which many consider to be one of the finest trout streams in the United States. Since the Bighorn is a tailwater river with regulated flow, water levels and temperatures remain relatively consistent throughout the year. It is a broad river that is incredibly rich in insect life. In terms of numbers of trout and average size, the Bighorn’s remarkable catch statistics are unmatched in the West!

Angler’s Edge Outfitters and Frontiers have been working together and fishing the Bighorn for almost 20 years. Brad Downey, owner and head guide of Angler’s Edge Outfitters, and his son Brett know the river intimately and will work hard to put you into plenty of big fighting fish. Anglers are accommodated in the Guest Cabin or Guest House, both of which are located minutes from the put-in point on the river. This is an ideal trip for the angler who would like to get away for a long weekend or combine it with other great Montana fishing opportunities.

Kingfisher Lodge offers a peaceful location in a rural setting a half mile from the Bighorn. Matt and Kerri McMeans, owners and hosts of this comfortable lodge, will make your stay very enjoyable. They can accommodate up to 14 guests in well-maintained lodge rooms. Delicious meals are served in the main dining room before and after a productive day on the river with an experienced guide.

For those outdoor enthusiasts interested in a cast-and-blast trip, Last Stand Outfitters in Hardin, Montana, offers an outstanding combination package during the fall season. Upland bird seasons coincide with excellent trout fishing on the Bighorn River.

Hooking up a nice size brown on 16-Mile Creek

Fly Fishers' Inn Montana

Flowing near Great Falls, the Missouri River is considered to be one of the finest tailwater fisheries in North America. For anglers who want to fish the Missouri, we recommend Fly Fishers' Inn, which is located between the towns of Craig and Cascade on the best fishing stretch of "Mighty Mo." The lodge has comfortable accommodations, home-cooked food, and veteran guides.

Triple Creek Ranch Montana

Triple Creek Ranch is located 90 miles south of Missoula near the town of Darby on the West Fork in the Bitterroot Valley. This full-service guest ranch is a Relais & Chateaux property – the only one in Montana. Triple Creek is open year-round and has a number of activities available including fly fishing, hiking, horseback riding, tennis and many others. Guests are accommodated in private deluxe cabins and have access to a swimming pool and hot tub.

Yellowstone Valley Ranch

Montana

The ranch is just south of Livingston in the heart of Paradise Valley. This area is home to some of the state's finest blue-ribbon fisheries. The fishing consists of renowned private spring creeks, the fabled Yellowstone River, and a wide variety of smaller freestone rivers such as 16-Mile Creek and the West Boulder River to name just a few.

Guests stay in one of five spacious duplex cabins overlooking the Yellowstone River. For the nonangler, the lodge has a Montana Outdoor Experience package that includes horseback riding, guided nature hikes, white-water rafting, mountain biking, and scenic tours of Yellowstone National Park.

Papoose Creek Lodge Montana

Papoose Creek Lodge, a distinctive Rocky Mountain lodge, is located just south of Ennis in the Madison Valley. This unique property offers gracious comfort in well-appointed rooms and cozy cabins. Gourmet meals are prepared with only fresh local produce and meats along with exceptional wines. Papoose Creek guests fish with experienced guides on the Madison River and nearby mountain lakes and rivers. For the outdoor enthusiast, there are also several nonfishing activities to enjoy.

New Mexico

Soaring Eagle Lodge New Mexico

Soaring Eagle Lodge, just below the Navajo Dam, is the only true riverfront lodge on the famous San Juan River. The San Juan is a tail-water fishery and fishes well throughout the entire year. Since a quality guide is an integral part of successful fishing, Soaring Eagle is proud to feature one of the most knowledgeable and seasoned staffs in the Southwest. The fishing can be customized to include public fishing trips, float trips, or a day on the Jacquez Ranch, an unspoiled parcel of private land surrounding the lodge that is exclusive to Soaring Eagle's guides and anglers.

Guests enjoy lodging in spacious and private streamside cottages with an unforgettable view. Delicious meals are served in the main dining room. A conference room is also available for large corporate fly fishing retreats.

Pecos River Ranch New Mexico

Val Kilmer's Pecos River Ranch is located 25 miles northeast of Santa Fe. This private ranch is approximately 6,000 acres of classic high desert country. The entire property is lined with towering ponderosa pine, cottonwood, box elder and willow, and during the summer months, wildflowers grow in profusion. The Pecos River fishery encompasses seven miles of private pristine river with a variety of pocket water, long sweeping riffles and deep pools, offering something for every angler, from the novice to the hard-core veteran.

For the nonangler, the ranch boasts an excellent equestrian program headed up by ranch manager Pam Sawyer. The property is an incredible bird, wildlife and botanical wonderland with guided hiking tours provided. Day trips to Santa Fe to visit the fabulous galleries, museums and unique shopping are highly recommended for the angler and nonangler alike.

Set among immense 300-year-old ponderosas and looking like a classic set from an old Western movie, the lodge is a grand log and Pueblo-style structure that overlooks the prolific trout-filled water. The main lodge and adjacent Cliff House can accommodate 8-10 guests in spacious rooms, each with private bath. The menu consists of exciting and varied family-style "ranch" cuisine. Lunch is served either on the river or anglers can return for a lodge lunch and short "siesta" if so desired.

New American West Destinations for 2006!

Fly Fishing Outfitters & Vail Cascade Resort

Colorado

Vail is known for its skiing, but what is not as well known is that Vail has a great fishery. We are pleased to announce that Fly Fishing Outfitters has partnered with the distinctive Vail Cascade Resort & Spa, creating an ideal destination for anglers, families, and corporate retreats.

Bill Perry's Fly Fishing Outfitters is an Orvis-endorsed fly shop that has been guiding anglers in the Vail area since 1992. The staff of veteran guides offers both float and wade trips on public water, and they have access to over 100 miles of private water. Fish the Blue, Colorado, Eagle, Roaring Fork, and Yampa Rivers, plus Gore Creek and other private creeks and lakes. Most of these rivers are fishable year-round and some are floatable until the end of October.

After a fun-filled day, you will retire to the newly renovated Vail Cascade Resort & Spa. This resort features several lodging options, spa, gym, pool, Jacuzzi, on-site restaurant, and access to other recreation, such as white-water rafting, hiking, mountain biking, golfing, and shopping.

The Resort at Paws Up
