HI TEST INK™

HIGH OPACITY - LOW BLEED INKS

You don't need big arms to print these inks!

They're smooth and creamy so you can print faster and get better coverage with less effort! Our special formula won't fatigue the manual printer and allows the automatic screen printer to crank up the speed. This ink is a screen printer's dream come true.

WHITE
GOLDEN YELLOW
NATURAL

SCARLET RED
LEMON YELLOW
LIME GREEN

ORANGE

SUPER HI TEST INK™

Even more bleed resistant and opaque than our original HI TEST ink. SUPER HI TEST inks are slightly thicker but still easy to print by hand.

WHITE and GOLDEN YELLOW

AVALANCHE WHITE™

Incredible new technology allows our thinnest formula ever! Superior bleed resistance and more optical whiteners than our HI TEST white.

AVALANCHE WHITE HEAVY DUTY™

Same as our original Avalanche White except a heavier body to provide even better coverage and opacity on automatic printers.

Jiffy INK MIXER BLADE

- Attaches To Your Power Drill!
- 14" Long For 1 Gallon Buckets
- Stainless Steel Construction
- About 450 rpms Works Best

Use the lowest mesh count that will hold the details of your design. On dark shirts, most printers use the "PRINT-FLASH-PRINT" technique. Maximizing ink film thickness is an essential part of bleed resistant prints. Since high opacity inks lay down thicker, they need more time in the dryer to cure.

Hints: All inks heat cure at 320 degrees. Dark colored substrates, heavier ink deposits and heavier substrates (ie. sweatshirts) require much longer cure times/temps. Heat tapes are a good way to check your dryer. Do a "Stretch Test" by pulling the ink between your thumbs (properly cured plastisol will usually stretch at least 1/8" without cracking). A "Wash Test" is the only fool proof way to test ink cure. Stir all inks before using to get the ink flowing properly. Metallic inks require more time and heat to cure because they reflect IR energy. Metallic inks also are likely to dull and oxidize when washed. To thin inks add curable reducer (up to 25% by volume). You can add curable reducer to HI TEST inks but adding more than 2-4% can reduce opacity and bleed resistance. To increase ink volume (i.e., when you don't have enough of an ink color to finish a job) add extender base which is ink without any color pigment.

Use BABY OIL to easily remove spray adhesive from your skin. This is much less painful than pulling the adhesive off hairy legs. Apply oil with a rag, or use a Q-Tip for nostrils and the sort. This also works well on eyeglasses (just be careful not to scratch them.)

HINTS

Get the best performance out of all spray cans by shaking before using. At the end of the day turn adhesive cans upside down and spray for a few seconds to clear adhesive from the nozzle tip. Spray, in a quick, even pattern and allow a few seconds for the adhesive to "back up" or dry before putting on your first shirt. Several thin layers of adhesive applied in the morning will give you a good adhesive base. Adhesives will not transfer to the inside of your shirts unless you spray too much adhesive (making puddles of adhesive on your pallets never helps either). To remove adhesive transfer from shirts, turn the shirt inside out, run back through dryer and immediately use a piece of sticky packing tape to rip the excess adhesive from the shirt.

Spot Cleaning Tips.

The high pressure of the electric gun is the key to the cleaning process. The cleaning fluid should be used sparingly like detergent in a washing machine. A start/stop approach to cleaning will allow the fluid to evaporate, preventing ringing. Use the pinpoint spray first and then finish up with the feathering spray for perfect results. Be safe and never put your hand behind the garment being cleaned (You may shoot yourself, Ouch!). Always wear eye protection and use an exhauster to vent fumes.

HEAT TAPES

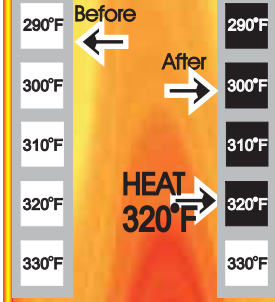

MAKE SURE YOUR INK CURES!!!

Monitoring your dryer temperature is easier said than done. The temperature inside any dryer varies from day to day due to brownouts, outside temperature changes and type of garments being printed. Heat tapes help you to ensure ink curing and prevent shirt BURNING. We recommend using a heat tape at the beginning of each shift and whenever you change the type of garment being printed.

HINT: SAVE SOME MONEY BY CUTTING EACH HEAT TAPE IN HALF BEFORE USING

PMS BOOK

PANTONE is the standard in color communication among artists, graphic designers and unfortunately screen printers. No, the colors in this book can't be matched exactly on T-Shirts and no the color formulas don't work well with plastisol. But, this is the only widely used method of communicating colors, so we're stuck with it. Buy this guide and give it to artists and ink mixers to use as a tool.

SOLVY-Water Soluble Topping PEGGY'S STITCH ERASER

Solvly film is a great topping for towels, golf shirts and sweaters. Just put a layer of Solvly on top of the item when you hoop it.

When embroidery is done, tear away as much Solvly as you can. Any small pieces which are left will dissolve during the first wash (or you can steam them away).

Solvly works wonders when sewing difficult items. It stabilizes the fabric and also dramatically improves the detail of the embroidery.

Needle Specs:

16X257 is the standard sewing machine needle. It was originally designed for high speed sewing and does fine for that purpose.

DBXK5 is becoming the needle of choice for embroiders. The eye is one size larger than normal, allowing thread to pass more easily, without fraying or snapping. This needle is basically a 16X257 only with a larger eye.

287WHK is basically a 16X257 with a shorter point. Used mostly on older Barudan machines.

DBX7ST has a larger rectangular eye that allows metallic threads to pass more easily.

WaterProof vs. Non-Waterproof Film

So..which film do you need? It really depends upon your needs. If you want to use off-the-shelf pigment inks that come with Epson 2200, R1800 and 4000/4800, then WP is a must. If you have high humidity or just don't want to worry about images getting smeared, then again WP is for you. If you are looking for an affordable solution and are using Epson 3000 or 1520 DYE ink or FastINK dye ink, then our Non-Waterproof film is fine. If you have problems with in drying because of humidity or just the pressure of getting a job on press right now, then WP is the best choice. The special microporous coating on WP causes the ink to dry IMMEDIATELY!

$1,995

The Screenwriter 4 from XANTE is the perfect way to produce quality film positives for your T-shirts and much more. Now able to print on clear film along with vellum paper and laser film. The huge print area is up to 13"x35.5" to reduce tiling of films. Print at 600x600 dpi, 1200x1200 dpi or 2400x2400 dpi for quality text, line art and halftones. The Screenwriter 4 prints much darker than any other brand of laser printer, because the print engine is purposely slowed down to allow more toner to lay down on the positive. Precision-Machined Print Head
 Adjust Off-Contact, Screen Angle and Micro-Registration without using any tools. No more scraped knuckles. These micros are super responsive. Compared to other systems, our adjustments are easier and more intuitive to use.

Multi-Axis Pre-Leveled Print Stations are all factory leveled in all axis to ensure print quality at all stations. Each station is level and flush with the others, side-to-side and front-to-back. This feature is normally only found on automatic presses. Also notice the beefy support strut below the print station. The pallets are rock solid. They are not spongy and absolutely do not flex. Your toughest prints will look crisp and clean on a Workhorse printer.

Optional Side Clamps provide support for automatic size screens. What an awesome sampling machine for the automatic shop. Manual printers who gang up multiple jobs on each screen will also love the versatility of side clamps.

JAVELIN

The perfect "first" automatic for a growing manual shop. The Javelin is manufactured by Tuf Products in Houston, Texas. While the other automatic manufacturers only pay attention to the multi-million dollar shops, Tuf Products treats even the smallest printer with respect. The Javelin holds perfect registration and can print up to 1000 shirts per hour. Please call for more information.

The Revolutionary FLASHBACK

Now for the first time, printing, flashing and cooling are all performed on the same print head. After the print stroke, the Flashback automatically slides its thin quartz element in between the garment and the screen, instantly flash drying and then cooling the garment.

Choose between three flash modes: Print one stroke then flash once; print two strokes then flash once; or for a super-bright white under-base, print then flash and print then flash again. After each flash the garment is automatically cooled with the built-in turbo fans.

All print heads are individually controlled with the simple flick of a switch providing a full array of printer interactive features.

FREEDOM

We thought a lot about how to explain this new FREEDOM 6-Color/8-Station automatic printer from Tuf Products. Everyone wants to know how we can sell a machine that looks almost exactly like the Javelin (see page 52) for $4,500 less. Well, there's a "PRICE WAR" going on and you are the big winner.

Tuf Products is battling it out to earn your first automatic printer purchase. We hope you'll buy a bigger more expensive printer from us later on down the road. We'll never get the second sale if we don't get the first one.

Now that brings us to the Freedom. It has nearly all the features of the Javelin. The main differences are: No foot pedal for manual indexing (but it's an option), Slightly lighter weight steel tubing (It's still built like a tank) and a slower indexer (Most shops only average 400 pcs/hr on an auto anyway). Other than that, it's pretty much the same machine for $4,500 less. And best of all the FREEDOM uses the FLASHBACK (see page 52) and you get a 2 year warranty to boot.

$20,500

Fits Thru a 34 Inch Door

PRINT UP TO 480 PCS/HR

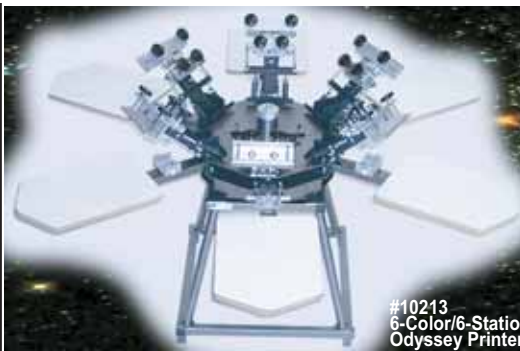

So what's keeping you from buying your first automatic printer? Is it money? We have easy leasing programs. Not sure if you have enough work to keep it running? Now you can quote competitively on jobs you could only dream of getting. How about going home on time for a change, because this auto will get your jobs done way faster than printing by hand. The FREEDOM never calls out sick, doesn't ask for a raise, never talks back, is tax deductible to buy and saves on payroll!!

Q. WHY USE RACKS AND CARTS?
A. Your screens will last longer because they'll be protected in a rack instead of leaning up against a wall waiting to be abused. Production is faster when you wheel screens from sink, to screen room, to production and back. Carts are great because you can put inks and squeegees on top and the screens underneath. All the stuff you need to print a particular job can be wheeled over to the printing press.

U-BOAT ALERT!

WARNING: This U-Boat will make your life much easier (and save your aching back too!).

Load with boxes of T-Shirts, 4 highx3 wide. That's nearly 1000 T-Shirts on one U-Boat. Now you can easily wheel those shirts from the UPS truck, right on over to the printing press. After printing, load the boxes back onto the U-Boat and they're ready to wheel out to your customer's vehicle when the order is picked up.

If your shop is tight on space, you really need to get some U-Boats. They are easily maneuvered in tight spaces and can be parked in the aisles.
