Some things definitely get better with age.
Take the price of our BILLY bookcase.

*Gillis Lundgren designed the first
BILLY 30 years ago.
41 million bookcases
worldwide later,
it's more up-to-date
than ever..*

The BILLY bookcase costs much less today than when it was conceived 30 years ago. Because the greater quantity we make of a designer product, and the flatter we make its flat-packs, the more we save on production and transportation costs. Savings that go directly to you.

We're all from Småland

If you want to really understand someone, take a look at their home. Nose along their bookshelves, peer at their pictures, have a snoop in the bathroom cabinet, (if you're that brazen). It's the background that explains the foreground.

This is our background. Home is an area of southern Sweden known for its poor soil, thrifty attitude and hard-working (stubborn!) people. You can't farm thin soil the same way you can a fertile field. You have to work harder, adapt your ideas and do things differently.

That's not so very different from making flat-packed, self-assembled furniture in an industry long known for "custom-made" and "high-end." Now we've come a long way from being a one-store company in the stony fields of Småland. But at the same time, it feels like nothing at all has changed. For us, it's still about doing more with less, challenging convention, being careful with money and not letting a single thing go to waste. (Good for prices, and good for the planet).

And we've never lost sight of our dream to give everyone the chance of a better everyday life at home.

That's why we pack things in flat boxes, and ask you to lend a hand by driving your purchases home and assembling them yourself.

And it's why we source products from sawmills and door factories, anywhere you might not expect high quality furnishings to be produced, to get prices lower.

We've found people all over the world who, deep down, are Smålanders at heart, just like us. People who hate to throw money down the drain. People who know the value of money, and are willing to work a little harder for something they believe in.

Together we are IKEA.

We resisted everything, except temptation

When creating the IKEA STOCKHOLM collection, we gave in completely to desire. Desire for luxury, for the finest materials - like mohair, velvet, linen, and real leather. So it did get a bit expensive. (For IKEA, that is). But the prices are still infinitely lower than you'll find elsewhere for top-end designer style. And it's all entirely irresistible.

Your sofa sees a lot of action, day after day. Endless sitting, lolling and lounging - all in the name of relaxation. So we push a 100kg. weight 50,000 times against each design of seat, to make sure it will take the pace, whoever's taking a little rest.

Mounting your flat screen looks stylish, but also makes it much more stable, which is useful with kids around. And we've made sure our wall bracket for flat TVs can hold up to 60kg. TV bracket is sold separately.

It's the odd chocolate stain or spilt drink that you want to remove, not the lovely rich colour of your beautiful sofa. So we test our colours for fastness, even faced with the aftermath of your favourite foodie fiends.

Sometimes sofas have to handle an overflow of people. So it's good to know that we test the designs of our armrests by pushing a 90kg. weight onto them 5,000 times.

Find DVD. Replace DVD. Take out CD... and so it goes on. And on. But we test-drive BESTÅ drawers 30,000 times to ensure they always work smoothly for you.

It's surprising how many times you slide across those doors to watch or hideaway the TV. We try it 20,000 times, to simulate real life.

Has anyone ever heard of a "sit-still room"?

Precisely. Which is why we make furniture for real life. It's not afraid of your kids' sticky fingers. Or your friend who always plops himself down on the sofa armrest. Or the way teenagers tend to bang cupboard doors closed. We put all our furniture through endurance testing to make sure it can stand up to everyday life. EKTORP sofas and BESTÅ storage are just two of our products that come with a 10-year quality guarantee. Which means you can get on with exactly what the living room is intended for... the business of living.

BESTÅ and EKTORP have a 10-year guarantee. Find out more on page 374.

IKEA PS: BECAUSE WE THINK, AND THINK AGAIN

Creativity is timeless and limitless. That's our design philosophy. So for the new IKEA PS collection, our intrepid teams travelled the globe, finding inspiration in more slow moving worlds, to inform the high tech life of today. From the small villages of India to the deep forests of Sweden. From the great plains of Africa to a small town called Älmhult. New ideas, from ever fertile imaginations.

The IKEA PS NEVER ENDING DESIGN

IKEA PS MASKROS was created by Marcus Arvonen with your own input in mind. First, you need to put it together. But Marcus also wants you to consider the interplay of light and shadow. Because this lamp will look and feel different in every room, in every home. It may even affect everyone's mood differently. And hopefully, it will sow a seed of inspiration in your life, just like our design stories.

DOORS AND HINGES Like you, they're on the go all the time in the kitchen - morning, noon and night. Because we know this, we test drive our door designs with a 2kg. weight, 200,000 times, to ensure they can stand up for themselves over many years.

TAPS Dishwashing, spud scrubbing, rinsing your lettuce or your fingers - the tap is at the heart of all the action. So we test our tap designs' durability, by turning them on and off 210,000 times. Then we switch from hot to cold another 140,000 times, and while we're at it, we make sure nothing leaks.

WORKTOPS Your worktop must handle hot pots, spills and splashes of all sorts. So we drench our product designs in water, oil and coffee, and then impact-test the top and edges to make sure they're durable.

APPLIANCES Baking, boiling, sizzling. Appliances certainly get put through their paces. But we offer a free 5-year guarantee on all of ours. And with energy-efficient designs, your muffins will rise, but your bills won't...

SULTAN HAGAVIK double sprung mattress

Good night, everyone

Side sleepers, back sleepers, pile-on-the-covers or throw-wide-the-window sleepers. A bed all to yourself or a haven for two. Everyone has a different way of sleeping, and SULTAN mattresses are designed to suit them all.

At IKEA.IE and the IKEA store, we make it easy for you to find the bed that best matches your needs. For night-after-night comfort that's customised for you... and you, and you, and, yes, that guy over there too.

SULTAN has a 25-year guarantee. Find out more on page 374.

SULTAN HJARTDAL
double sprung mattress

€459

You spend a lot of time on your mattress. A third of your life, actually. But that doesn't mean that finding the right mattress has to be difficult – or dull. So let's get down to what really matters. Comfort is personal, and choosing a mattress should be about you. That's why we develop SULTAN mattresses to correspond to individual sleeping needs.

Weight and height

Your weight and height help determine how firm your mattress should be. The lighter you are, the softer the mattress.

Sleeping position

We all have a favourite way of sleeping. Side-sleepers need a softer mattress to allow the shoulders and hips to sink in, while back-sleepers need the support of a firmer mattress.

Body shape

Broad-shouldered? Curvy? Weight and height don't give you the whole picture. Different bodies have different support needs, as well.

Temperature

The right sleeping temperature is essential to a good night's sleep. Some of our mattresses are constructed to be especially good at transporting heat and moisture away from the body.

single washbasin

Tiny bathroom? Maybe. Room for all your stuff? Definitely.

Some things are hard to get your head around. Like the fact that the smaller the kids are, the more paraphernalia they seem to require. And that the smallest room in the house has to store rather a lot of it. How do you handle this? With LILLÅNGEN - small in stature but big on storage muscle, it makes the impossible possible. Now, you may not be able to get your head around that either, but you can take our word for it.

Choosing the right work chair is easier than you think

Although it does require a little thought. Think about the different things you'll be busy doing when you're sitting on the chair - typing, drawing? And how much time you'll spend on them. A basic height-adjustable chair offers all the comfort you'll need for shorter periods of time. But for full-time work, you may want to vary sitting positions. Make your perfect choice at the store, or by visiting IKEA.IE the NEVER ENDING job.

We have decided to help create a world where we take better care of the environment, the earth's resources, and each other. We know that sometimes we are potentially part of the problem. So, we're working hard to become a part of the solution. We're weighing up the pros and cons, continually examining and changing things. All these steps, however small, across lots of different areas, add up to something... something with a noticeable impact. The job has already started, and it is a never-ending one. You can follow our progress at IKEA.IE

IMPROVEMENT #28
KASSETT magazine file is made from 80% recycled paper, and now comes from us folded flat. This means more files per truck, for less impact on the environment (and a better price). Each pallet now holds five times as many KASSETT. CO₂ emissions from transporting it have decreased by 75%.

IMPROVEMENT #1 When we design IKEA packaging, "pretty" is not our top priority. We don't design flat-packs to sell more but to save more. Flat-packs mean fuller loads and reduced vehicle use with fewer emissions. Our use of recyclable packaging helps too, requiring minimal new raw materials. We feel brown cardboard is one of our best friends – it saves costs and the environment.

IMPROVEMENT #29 SUNNAN work lamp combines low energy LED technology with solar panels. Since there's no need for electricity, it can be used pretty much anywhere. Just charge the panel for 9–12 hours in the sun and get four hours of full light!

IMPROVEMENT #9 NORDEN table in birch. Introduced in 1998, it was probably the first time anyone had thought of making furniture from the knotty top part of the birch tree instead of burning it as firewood or grinding it for chipboard production.

IMPROVEMENT #18 The cotton in DVALA bed-linen, called "Better Cotton" is grown in a more sustainable way, using substantially less water, chemical fertilisers and pesticides. Not only that, the fabric is woven using 15% less cotton but feels just as good as comparable bedlinen.

IMPROVEMENT #23 Since 2003, the IKEA Social Initiative has been making donations from teddy bear and soft toy sales to children's projects all over the world. For a number of weeks each year, the IKEA Social Initiative donates 1 euro for every soft toy sold to projects run by UNICEF and Save the children. So far, 16.7 million euros have helped fund projects in more than 20 countries in Asia, Africa and Central and Eastern Europe.

IMPROVEMENT #30 RINGSKÅR taps come with a flow control function. The water flow can be adjusted in two steps with the lever, so customers can avoid the unnecessary wastage of water. Most IKEA taps are fitted with a Pressure Compensating Aerator (PCA) that can reduce water use by 30%.

IMPROVEMENT #40 The versatile NÅSUM basket is made from what most people would consider waste: remnants from banana trees after the harvest.

IMPROVEMENT #44 At IKEA, we hate waste! This is why we take every opportunity to turn leftovers from production into raw material for other products. LUSY BLOM cushion is one good example. It is filled with leftovers from IKEA quilt production, so we can make sure the content is safe and healthy as well as making use of the material that would otherwise be wasted.

IMPROVEMENT #36 SPARSAM low energy bulbs are a great alternative to traditional incandescent bulbs. They last ten times longer and the energy consumption is reduced by up to 80% over the bulb's life time. One 20-watt bulb provides as much light as a 100-watt incandescent bulb, without getting anywhere near as hot. IKEA will phase out incandescent bulbs in favour of more environmentally friendly alternatives before Sept 1, 2010. IKEA customers can return low energy bulbs to all IKEA stores for recycling.

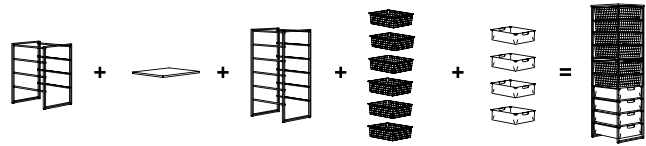

A never ending job! All the improvements that we make for a sustainable and better life for as many people as possible can be seen at IKEA.IE

EFFEKTIV How to Build:

Think carefully about what you need to store – the interior fittings you choose determine what base and which add-on units you need. Start building from the bottom with a mobile or stationary base. Work your way up – add-on units come in two different heights. Add drawers, file frames or shelves and choose fronts and doors that suit your needs as well as your taste – there are several different materials and colours to choose from. Complement with accessories and choose handles or knobs from our wide range.

TRÄBY

Each frame in the TRÄBY storage range is unique. That's because they're made of lacquered ash veneer, which has natural shifts in colour. By combining the frames with drawers, doors, glass doors and glass shelves, you can create a personal solution with room for all your things. If you want to accommodate larger objects, you can adjust the partition in the shelving unit. Hang the frames directly on the wall, or complement with legs and place the units on the floor. However you choose to use them, the result is guaranteed to be unique.

Recycling... sorted

SORTERA storage boxes, 37L

€9.99 /ea

At IKEA we know recycling can get a little messy. So to help out, we've introduced a range of handy waste bins, bags and boxes.

Bottles, board and baked bean tins, tasty takeaway menus or less pleasant letters from the tax man, it all needs to be sorted. But ideally without turning half your home into a rubbish dump.

Why not try SORTERA boxes to help you sort your wheat from your chaff, or your carrot tops from your cardboard? You'll love how easy they make the job. (So will your bin men).

Everyone wants to live in that green and pleasant land. And with stylish recycling storage to make things simpler, we can all do our bit to help.

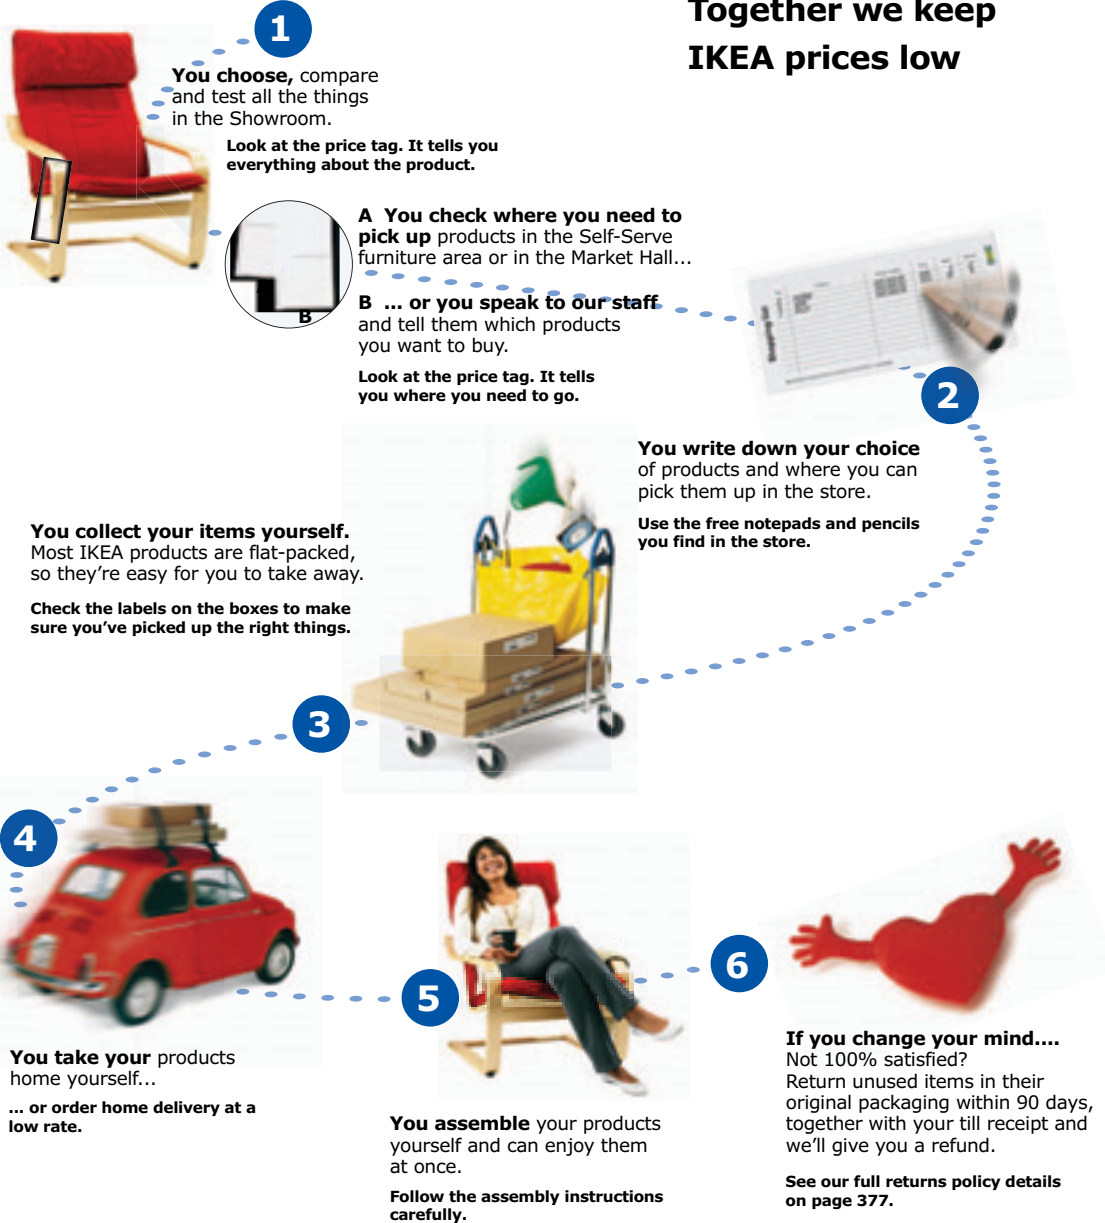

This is the IKEA way.

At IKEA, you don't need anyone to hold your hand while you shop

Together we keep

IKEA Recycles

IKEA believes that it should have an overall positive impact on people and environment. We take actions in our stores to minimise our carbon footprint in all areas of our business. This includes taking responsibility for recycling of our own waste and other items from our customers. IKEA Dublin has a current goal of 90% recycling and is moving towards zero waste to landfill operation.

What is WEEE, battery and accumulators regulation?

The W.E.E.E. (Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment) and Battery regulation is a legislation that means importers and manufacturers of electrical and electronic equipment (EEE) batteries and accumulators have obligations to finance the collection and recycling of household WEEE and waste batteries in Ireland.

How does it work?

WEEE and Waste batteries covers any household appliance with a plug or a battery that has been discarded at the end of their useful life. Along with waste batteries (i.e AAA, AA), WEEE must not be discarded in a normal rubbish bin or worse still dumped illegally as they may contain chemicals and metals that could cause harm to human health and the environment if not managed properly. The crossed out wheelie bin on all appliances and batteries is to remind us not to put them in the rubbish bin but to separate them for recycling.

How is all that paid for?

Prices of electrical items include a contribution to the producer recycling fund (PRF) to ensure these items are managed in a sustainable way at the end of their useful lives. Where applicable these PRFs are shown visibly to the consumer on the price of new equipment. You will see this on all relevant products in IKEA.

What will IKEA do?

To fulfil these obligations IKEA Dublin will offer free of charge the following services

- Collection for waste batteries and low energy bulbs (CFLs) in our customer services department (no purchase necessary).
- Free drop off facility for WEEE articles in customer services for like for like purchase, this means if you buy a microwave you can return a microwave free of charge for us to recycle for you within 15 (fifteen) days of purchase.
- We will pick up free of charge any large household appliances on a like for like sales basis. Please see our web site or in store for terms and conditions.
- If the product is not ready when we deliver, you can still return it free of charge within 30 (thirty) days from the date of purchase.
- Want to know more about IKEA and the environment, visit IKEA.IE or see in store for details.

It's free to recycle!
