Supporting you with the issues that really matter

Oxford School Improvement

Whatever the key priorities in your school, we're here to help. Our classroom resources are linked to professional development, and come with free support, to help you deliver results. Let us work with you to help you make a difference in the issues that matter in your school, whether you're looking for something new or want to add to what you already have.

Match-funding for phonics

The government has made a commitment to support English schools with Key Stage 1 pupils in teaching systematic synthetic phonics by providing up to £3,000 of match-funding for resources and training. This means you could have up to £6,000 to spend, but you can spend any amount up to £3,000, and still get the equivalent match-funding.

Eligible synthetic phonics resources and training will be available in a special catalogue in September 2011. You must order from the catalogue to ensure you get your match-funding.

Getting the best start at school

Helping parents to support their children's literacy

Starting school is a time of great excitement, but also one of apprehension for children, their parents and carers. We have teamed up with the National Literacy Trust, an independent charity that has worked with schools since 1993, providing innovative resources, information and support. We are working in partnership to help you support and engage parents to ensure every child gets the best start in their lifelong literacy journey.

Starting School Literacy Wheel

Support literacy in the home

This simple, fun resource provides parents and carers with advice and support for their child's reading, writing, speaking and listening development. With top tips and ideas, it is a handy resource to stick on the fridge! Order a class set for your parents for only £45 for a pack of 32 with an instruction leaflet. Order direct from: www.literacytrust.org.uk/resources
Enquiries: support@literacytrust.org.uk

Do your parents know that...

- Over one in five children report that no one at home encourages them to read?
- Nearly three quarters of children name a parent as their "reading role model"?
- Regardless of background, children who read for pleasure do better at school and throughout life?

National Literacy Trust, 2011

The National Literacy Trust provides information on the latest policy and practice, and a range of resources, training and conferences. To download the free 2011/12 Schools Guide to Literacy, sign up to a free e-newsletter or join the Schools Network at: www.literacytrust.org.uk/schools

Oxford Owl is a free website for parents to help with their child's learning. Growing to 250 free eBooks, along with a handy phonics guide (including how to say the sounds correctly), ideas for motivating boys, support for keeping up with reading in the holidays and fun ideas and games to engage children in reading.

www.oxfordowl.co.uk

Oxford University Press is delighted to be working with the National Literacy Trust to support teachers and parents during this important time. We understand that it is not always easy to engage parents in their child's learning so our aim is to work together to give simple, yet fun ideas and activities that any parent or carer can use. You can find out more at www.wordsforlife.org.uk and www.oxfordowl.co.uk

Rod Theodorou, Primary Director,
Oxford University Press

Starting school is an important time in every child's life. However, the support they receive at home is crucial for their literacy development. That's why we have teamed up with OUP in order to create the Starting School Literacy Wheel, a tool aimed at parents to help them support their child and provide that vital bridge between home and school.

Floppy's Phonics are a great way to practise phonics in context i.e. when reading a story. Children are able to segment and blend words so they can read them independently, giving confidence to succeed at these early reading stages.

The non-fiction books are the best I have seen. The text is very clear and aligned to Letters and Sounds. In addition the photographs are stunning with, for example, amazing photographs of the natural world.

A whole-school reading programme to motivate and raise the achievement of 21st century children – especially boys!

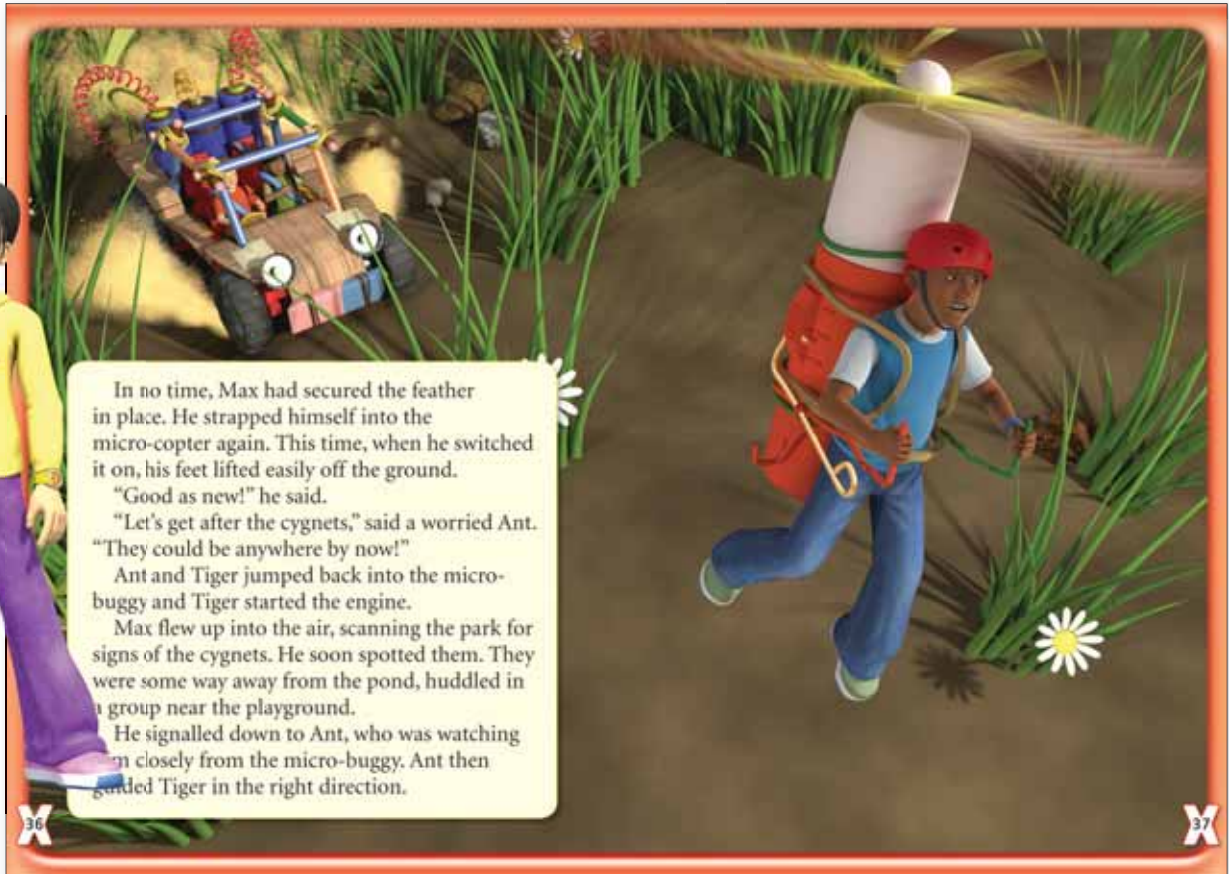

- Puts phonics at the heart of teaching children to read
- Engages and motivates children to keep reading, right up to Year 6
- The characters, secret powers, gadgets, action-packed stories and fascinating non-fiction really appeal to boys, and the 3D artwork has genuine wow factor for today's children
- Easy-to-use software brings the character stories to life on your interactive whiteboard
- A fantastic springboard for writing, with a wealth of ideas for talk, writing and drama
- Strong female role models means Project X will appeal to your girls as well

The power of character

It's proven that popular and familiar characters capture the imagination of modern children. At the heart of Project X is an exciting series of character books children love.

- Four central characters bring the adventures to life – Max, Cat, Ant and Tiger
- Continuous, action-based storylines make children want to keep reading

In no time, Max had secured the feather in place. He strapped himself into the micro-copter again. This time, when he switched it on, his feet lifted easily off the ground. "Good as new!" he said. "Let's get after the cygnets," said a worried Ant. "They could be anywhere by now!" Ant and Tiger jumped back into the micro-buggy and Tiger started the engine. Max flew up into the air, scanning the park for signs of the cygnets. He soon spotted them. They were some way away from the pond, huddled in a group near the playground. He signalled down to Ant, who was watching him closely from the micro-buggy. Ant then guided Tiger in the right direction.

Year 3/P4, Brown Band, Conflict: Round-up

Year 2/P3, White Band, CD-ROM – Journeys/Going Places: Hamster Rampage

Practice and consolidation of your phonics teaching

- 100% decodable books fully matched to Letters and Sounds Phases 1-4
- Perfect for group work or one-to-one reading practice
- Can be used alongside any phonics teaching programme
- Teachers' Notes embedded in the books mean that no preparation is needed
- All 40 Project X Phonics books now available digitally for use on your interactive whiteboard or for independent pupil practice

READ

Max, Cat, Ant and Tiger were at the beach with Tiger's mum and dad. The four friends had set off to explore the rock pools. They were looking for shells and crabs. Max saw a small cave in the rocks. "Let's shrink and explore this cave!" he said.

TALK

- Talk about the seaside. Ask children if they have ever been to the beach. If not, ask them to imagine what it might be like.

ACTIVITY

- Read out the following sentence: A fish is in the rock pool near the weed.
- Then ask children to write the sentence. Children could use magnetic letters, a whiteboard or a pencil and paper to write.

Tip

Encourage children to sound-talk the words before writing.

Phase 3, Yellow Band, The Starfish

“In our teaching of phonics we use Letters and Sounds and use a good range of texts of all genres, as well as e-books and ICT games. The Project X Phonics books fit in seamlessly.”

Assistant Head Teacher,
Goldington Green Lower School, Bedford

GETTING the BEST out of BOYS

★ Order your FREE kit, worth £99!

A school improvement kit to help you address the issues around boys' achievement

National Literacy Trust

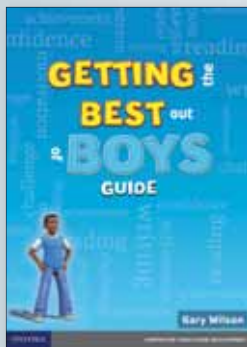

Developed with Gary Wilson, consultant, author and expert on raising boys' achievement

“We’re concerned that boys continue to lag behind girls even before they start school, especially in writing.”
Department for Education, 2010

It is a well known fact that boys' reading and writing test scores lag behind girls. By putting boys' achievement on your school development plan and engaging boys at an early age, your whole school can benefit.

Getting the Best out of Boys Guide

- Step-by-step support to help you set up a Getting the Best out of Boys project in your school
- Practical suggestions and strategies on approaches to teaching and learning, engaging boys in literacy and more

Getting the Best out of Boys CD-ROM

- PowerPoint presentations and handouts for staff meetings
- Video case study of a school that has successfully set up a Getting the Best out of Boys project
- Resources to help you set up a parent workshop

Getting the Best out of Boys DVD for Parents

- An engaging and approachable video from Gary Wilson on the role that parents can play in raising boys' achievement
- Five top tips from Gary Wilson to help parents get the best from their boys

Two Posters

- 'Top tips to inspire your boys' for your staffroom
- 'Engaging Parents' for your school entrance, library or classroom

The Getting the Best out of Boys Kit, worth £99, is FREE to UK schools. Visit www.oxfordprimary.co.uk/boys and order yours today!

Why Read Write Inc. Phonics works

- A systematic approach to synthetic phonics through the whole school – the result of inspiring training.
- A rigorous but easy initial assessment which groups children across years to ensure they are all working at the right level. This means that every child experiences success from the start.
- A fun and effective way of teaching the sounds and corresponding graphemes.
- A step-by-step approach to blending which means no child slips through the net.
- Lively reading books matched to the sounds children know, creating confident readers from the start.
- Matched writing resources with handwriting and talk for writing activities embedded from the start.
- A teaching methodology with partner work at its heart ensuring real participation and pace.

How to book Read Write Inc. Training

In-school Training

Initial in-school training on Read Write Inc. Phonics is the first and most effective step forward to achieve consistently rigorous teaching across the school. In our most successful Read Write Inc. schools, the head, teachers and teaching assistants have all been trained together. Whole-school refresher days are also popular, keeping teachers invigorated and up-to-date with our latest developments.

Please contact Ann Tweddle on 01829 260266 or e-mail ann@ruthmiskinliteracy.com for more information and to book in-school training.

Central Training

Central training is provided for new teachers in existing Read Write Inc. schools, and for heads and teachers wanting to find out how Read Write Inc. is so successful in raising standards in literacy. Many schools also use the central training for individuals to attend Read Write Inc. Management, Spelling, Comprehension Plus and Writing training days.

Please visit www.ruthmiskinliteracy.com to view current central training dates and to book online.

An effective phonic approach for your struggling juniors

Read Write Inc. Fresh Start is a highly effective phonics-based literacy programme for children who have not learned to read the first time round.

How does it work?

- This programme uses the proven and dynamic synthetic phonic teaching strategies of Read Write Inc. which ensure success for every child
- Provides specially written age-appropriate stories and non-fiction texts which children have the phonic knowledge to read, building their confidence from the start
- Uses clear methodology with blueprint lessons and carefully matched lively resources

Fresh Start Training

Inspiring professional development is available for all Read Write Inc. programmes to ensure you get the best from them.

Fresh Start training includes:

- The reading and writing process: understanding the Simple View of Reading
- The complex English alphabetic code
- Read Write Inc. principles for excellent teaching and learning
- Assessment and grouping
- Teaching the phonic lessons: speed sounds, blending and segmenting
- Teaching the Module reading lessons: from decoding to comprehension
- Teaching the Module writing lessons: from encoding to composition
- Effective implementation

To find out more, call Shona Gleave on 01275 331 230 or visit www.ruthmiskinliteracy.com

'It has trained staff to teach reading in a rigorous, yet fun, way.'

Lynne Hopkins, Read Write Inc. manager and teacher, Hendreforgan Primary School

It's brilliant – Ofsted were over the moon! Confidence and self-esteem have really gone up and other teachers have noticed the difference.

Proven junior literacy programme

Read Write Inc. Comprehension is an in-depth literacy programme for children aged 7–9 who can read. It aims to get all your lower juniors to Level 3 by age 9, by taking children through, in clear steps, to improved comprehension, writing, vocabulary, speaking, critical thinking and grammar skills. The programme does this by ensuring children are taught all the higher order reading and writing skills in a logical and structured way.

What is covered?

Reading skills: Sequencing of events, character type and motivation, building mind pictures, recognising the significance of key vocabulary in unlocking understanding.

Writing skills: Understanding sentence structure, character mapping, spelling, planning and composing skills, collecting and developing vocabulary and critical editing.

Resources: 1 Handbook, 14 modules with specially written fiction and non-fiction texts, 16 modules linked to children's fiction and non-fiction books.

The children's imaginations take off. They start to use sentences they would never have used before.

Literacy Co-ordinator, Whetstone Field Primary School, Walsall

A dynamic, effective way to teach all your literacy

Read Write Inc. Comprehension Plus aims to get all your juniors to a National Curriculum Level 5 by age 11. Suitable for all 9 - 11 year olds, the programme integrates reading, writing, thinking, listening and talking to ensure the development of a wide range of literacy skills.

Ruth Miskin says: "I developed Read Write Inc. Comprehension Plus to give all children the best possible start with their literacy skills, which are so crucial for accessing the curriculum and going on to lifelong success with reading and writing."

How does it work?

As with Read Write Inc. Comprehension, pupils learn to read with a deep level of understanding, and write with fluency and confidence. They build depth to their comprehension skills – and add greater sophistication to their textual analysis and writing. They are taught to infer, summarise, question, predict, clarify and argue a point of view. Fiction is linked to non-fiction through a 'Big Question'.

At the heart of Read Write Inc. Comprehension Plus is enjoyment and engagement with a variety of complete texts by well-known authors. The fast pace of the programme means that children are constantly challenged and excited by what they are doing.

Teacher modelling clarifies the writing process and the consistent use of partner work means that every child is totally engaged. Guided writing, drama activities, debate and the daily log all add to the children's enthusiastic response to the programme.

I really like the way the reading and writing is built up step-by-step and the clear guidance for teachers in terms of modelling is great.

Read Write Inc. One-to-one Phonics Tutoring Kit

Review by John Dabell, Teach Primary, July 2011

The Read Write Inc. One-to-one tutoring kit from Oxford University Press is a box of phonics goodies that you can literally pick up and teach with children aged 4-9. It contains everything you need for high quality, one-to-one reading tuition. Inside you will find a professional development DVD and handbook with demonstrations and words of wisdom from the highly esteemed phonics missionary Ruth Miskin – arguably the UK's leading authority on teaching children to read. It includes video clips on teaching 'pure' sounds, sound-blending, high-frequency words, tricky words, comprehension and fluency. There are also plenty of detailed teaching notes that give you the confidence to walk the talk.

The Read Write Inc. One-to-one tutoring kit can be used comfortably by individual special needs assistants, especially after viewing the step-by-step guidance on the DVD, and would also be useful for more senior staff. It's a kit for everyone to dive into as it is everyone's responsibility to get every child reading.

Verdict

This resource is first-class for me and I would have no hesitation in committing to it, safe in the knowledge its contents would enable me to deliver the best teaching children deserve.

Children using these materials will learn to read very quickly because of the structured and rigorous approach to teaching phonics. It's not hard to work out that children who read are more successful than those that don't. As Ruth Miskin herself says, 'Reading is not just the foundation but the whole building itself.'

Why not find out more about Oxford Primary Maths resources?

Discover a multi-sensory approach to teaching maths for ages 3- 7+ that raises children's achievement and increases their confidence.

Using structured apparatus to represent number, Numicon enables children to illustrate their mathematical thinking and allows teachers to 'see' a child's reasoning skills laid out on the table.

The Numicon approach is supported by NCETM and TDA accredited professional development, delivered by a team of maths experts across the UK and overseas. Numicon combines a proven pedagogy and the use of structured imagery to really transform the way you see maths.

"Numicon is the best number system I have ever found, in 26 years of teaching"

Pennie Jones, Primary School Teacher, Llywyn yr Eos School

Maths Makes Sense

Maths success for every child – for life!

Maths Makes Sense, developed by maths expert Richard Dunne, offers a whole school solution to maths, transforming understanding and enjoyment of maths for every child.

Using this rigorous learning system, combined with inspiring professional development and comprehensive planning and teaching resources, you will see every child become a confident learner, and every teacher a confident mathematician.

It really is 'learn the system, love the maths!'

'Maths Makes Sense has made an explicit difference to the development of our children'

Sarah Oliver, Deputy Headteacher, Cuckoo Hall Primary School, London
