German Language Catalog 2010

Langenscheidt

Dear Friends of the German Language,

The new media have long become an integral component of foreign language classes, but have you used podcasts yet? Our new instructional book Podcasts im Sprachunterricht – am Beispiel Deutsch demonstrates interesting ways to utilize this new interactive technology. Here you will find numerous useful suggestions for the intermediate to advanced German class.

The multi-media student pack Berliner Platz NEU features a learner's DVD, audio CDs and a cultural reader along with the textbook/workbook. The material reinforces all four skills through its student-centered approach and encourages discussions via the cultural scenes and open-ended situations on the DVD.

The intermediate/advanced textbook series Aspekte is now complete with its third volume leading to level C1. The additional DVD with authentic clips from German TV and the many additional internet projects enliven classroom instruction and give students the opportunity to conduct independent research on various topics of interest.

The feedback we have received about our newest dictionary is very gratifying indeed: The new Power Wörterbuch Deutsch is equally valuable for native speakers as it is for learners of German. Not only does it include the new spelling, but native speakers as well as learners of German benefit from the many examples of language usage and the additional cultural information ranging from the university system to the various political parties to dialects. A very "readable" dictionary indeed.

Leo & Co. has evolved into a very entertaining "reading-soap". Students find out what goes on in this neighborhood diner via reading, listening for additional information on the audio CD, and they learn interesting cultural facts in the appendix.

Please consult our website for additional free downloads, worksheets, seasonal information on language activities and the exchange forum with other teachers at www.langenscheidt-education.com. All materials can be ordered on the website as well.

Wishing you a fruitful and inspiring New Year,

College Textbook for Beginning German

The material guides the student gently in the language acquisition process via a structured approach and a smooth topic-oriented progression. Pronunciation is practiced extensively via the audio and DVD material, and the direction in the workbook with learning strategies and grammatical concepts are clearly explained in English.

Structure

- The material is correlated both with the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines as well as the Common European Framework of Reference.
- The textbook/workbook features 12 chapters plus 4 review chapters.

Concept

- The textbook/workbook introduces the material via picture prompts and dialogues and and short texts. The material is practiced in individual, paired and group activities, and reinforced through homework assignments in the workbook section.
- The DVD offers authentic scenes from the topics which were covered in the chapters. Students view them and review them on their laptops and check for comprehension in the transcripts.
- The DVD works on multiple levels: The students watch actors playing the role for learners of beginning German using clearly accentuated German. In the second part, the students watch the same actors as they go about their daily lives, using much of the same structures in an authentic setting at the normal rate of speech.
- The cultural reader provides additional information about Germany, Austria and Switzerland in context.
- The D-A-CH Fenster shows language variants.

Berliner Platz

Berliner Platz

Everyday German for Adults

The series is functionally driven and allows the teacher and students to mix and match the different components to form and express their own meaning. Level 3 of Berliner Platz prepares student for the Zertifikat Deutsch by practicing language skills using the same type of exercise formats as in the Zertifikat Deutsch exam.

Structure

- Each of the volumes contains a textbook and a workbook section and an appendix with an answer key.
- The textbook offers an easily accessible approach to the German language.
- "Service stations" help review and reinforce vocabulary and structures.

Content

- The topics focus on everyday life (and preparation for everyday life) in a German-speaking environment.

Concept

- The smooth progression and clear exercise typology are oriented towards the needs of students with little or no experience in learning a foreign language.
- The starting pages for the chapters have a strong visual image to promote spontaneous understanding of the subject matter.
- Suggestions for project work provide motivation on the active application of skills, e.g. in actual everyday situations.
- Special emphasis is placed on training pronunciation.

Additional material

The "Intensive Trainer" offers additional vocabulary and grammar exercises to provide differentiation options within similar learner groups.

The Einstiegskurs is designed for students with no experience in learning foreign languages and with little knowledge about the structure of language. It is suitable both for learners for whom starting with a beginner's course book (Berliner Platz or another basic level course book) would be too much of a challenge and would therefore hamper motivation.

Optimal

Optimal

Textbook for German

The first D-A-CH textbook which gives equal attention to the three German-speaking countries. The Swiss, Austrian and German author team based this newest textbook series on the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) and the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines. Optimal follows a functionally driven curriculum, making goals transparent for the learner and teacher every step of the way. While it utilizes the student's world knowledge, it engages him/her in the process of discovering new linguistic patterns and structures. All components of the series take an integrated approach toward the acquisition of functional patterns and grammatical structures in conjunction with encouraging reflection about linguistic and cultural similarities and differences. The textbook is divided into 12 chapters covering topics of everyday life in Switzerland, Austria and Germany. Each chapter is subdivided into integrated units of authentic cultural topics, vocabulary and expressions, grammar, pronunciation, and practice and review. Each page in the textbook is mirrored by a corresponding page in the workbook (with Audio-CD).

Textbook Series for Intermediate/Advanced

This new intermediate/advanced DVD-based textbook series is designed for the development of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conversation. Material is placed in context through various topics which are viewed from different angles via interactive exercises, various text forms, and interviews. At the core of this program is a DVD which features authentic clips from German TV and serves as a springboard for the various exercises and activities in each chapter.

Structure

- The chapters have a modular structure. It enables the instructor to teach the material either in linear or non-sequential order.
- Content and grammatical structures are clearly outlined at the beginning of each chapter for easy access and convenient overview.
- The workbook contains additional exercises as well as tools for self-evaluation. The DVD advances listening comprehension skills via short sequences which are linked to photo-prompts and exercises in the textbook.

Content

- Topics are introduced in 10 chapters under various aspects. They include: Wohnwelten (Baumhaus; Obdachlosigkeit; Hotel Mama; König Ludwig II), Gesundheit (Fast Food-Slow Food; Lachyoga; Schokolade; Stress), Kaufen und Konsum (Supermarkt; Konsumgesellschaft; Reklamation und Beschwerde; Billa Österreichs grösster Supermarkt) etc.
- Review of previously learned structures and concepts is emphasized.
- It prepares the learner for reading longer authentic German texts.
- Photos and visual materials at the beginning of each chapter facilitate the entry into the new topic.
- Each module presents and practices effective learning strategies for all four skills.
- New vocabulary is introduced in meaningful and engaging contexts which stimulate discussion.
- The DVD heightens the interest via culturally authentic material. An examination chapter with sample DVD is available upon request.

geni@l

German for High School/Junior High

This popular textbook series for the secondary level was designed according to the U.S. National Standards and the new European Standard (Framework of Reference). It provides a solid basis of structural components along with culturally authentic material. Designed according to the Baukastenprinzip, it allows teacher and students to mix and match the various materials according to needs, abilities and aspirations. geni@l, with all its stimulating internet projects and links to authentic German sites, is the most ingenious way for young students to learn German.

Structure

- Each textbook features 12 chapters plus 3 review chapters.
- The grammatical concepts are introduced through context and extensively practiced in various exercises which recycle and spiral the newly learnt concepts for reinforcement.
- Pronunciation exercises (intonation, word and sentence emphasis) are incorporated throughout the units.
- The varied chapters are short, made up of twelve pages each, with numerous opportunities for speaking.

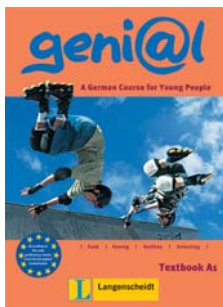

Content

- The topics are young and culturally authentic, and include the latest in communications technology (e-mail, internet projects, online activities, etc.).
- The material is appealing and challenging and strikes the delicate balance between the linguistic level of competency and the mental abilities and topical interests of high school age students.
- The DVDs to geni@l enable students to understand more through movement, gestures and facial expressions, with both verbal and non-verbal communication.
- The Videotrainer includes additional in-depth exercises and also allows extra-curricular work with the DVD.
- The geni@l A2 DVD includes additional worksheets.

Concept

- Clearly defined goals at the beginning of each chapter make the learning process transparent for teacher and student.
- The program advances sequentially and transitions smoothly from one level to the next.
- The series is correlated to the U.S. National Standards and additionally prepares the student for the Zertifikat Deutsch.

DER GRÜNE MAX

Der grüne Max

German for Young Learners (Age 9-11)

This enjoyable textbook series is designed for young children entering the world of foreign languages in a playful and motivating manner. It includes the textbook, workbook and audio material for the learner, and an interactive CD-ROM has recently been added to this program. The teacher's manual includes many helpful hints for the instructor. The material is geared towards children who are new to the language as well as to those who already use some German at home and would like further instruction. It introduces the young learner to all four skills and makes him/her aware of language learning techniques and transfer skills. The material makes it easy for the teacher to use in the classroom with learners of different levels according to the students' abilities and needs.

Meine Freunde und ich

German for Young Children

T. Sieber, R. Benati, G. Kniffka, G. Siebert-Ott

Meine Freunde und ich is aimed at children who are not native German speakers and who are moving from pre-school and kindergarten to primary school. It is designed as a basis for further language teaching measures.

Concept

The aim of the language work is to improve oral language skills, on the one hand, and to initiate the exposure to writing, on the other. The course contains playful activities such as painting, dancing and singing as well as handicrafts activities to enhance the fine motor skills.

Components

Teacher's Manual with copy templates and CD included, portfolio binder for children (to collect the exercise sheets) and picture cards.

Easy Readers for German in 3 Stages

Felix & Theo

The series was designed according to the following premise: Students like the feeling of accomplishment in having read an entire book in the foreign language - even beginners who usually have to wait until they become more proficient.

The main character is consistent: Private eye Helmut Müller and his secretary Bea Braun encounter various mysteries and crimes in Germany, Switzerland and Austria. Each time, they are called upon to solve the puzzle as the reader follows their adventure. The books lend themselves to different students reading various books and reporting to one another.

There is an exercise section in the appendix and cultural notes to help the reader understand the content. The series has three different levels of difficulty.

Level 1 minimum of 50 hours required

Level 2 minimum of 100 hours required

Level 3 minimum of 150 hours required

All books are illustrated and in 11.0x18.0 cm format.
